Just Average News We'll All Live 140 Years Foolish Turk—Be Wise Chances of the Steeplechase

IT'S A DAY of average news. The franc goes up still higher. "Shorts" are badly squeezed.

The oil scandal goes on with its sordid trimmings. The Navy's oil reserve, it seemed, played a part in the 1920 convention.

Canadian railroads cut freight rates, restoring in many cases the tariff prevailing before the war. American railroads consider that highly "unethical." Stock market patriots don't like the bonus. It is all right to praise soldiers, offering them the sun and moon when you are frightened. But what's the use of keeping your word when it is all over?

MANY STOCKS and many bonds insist on going up in spite of the bonus. Some speculators realize that it isn't such a bad thing to put a couple of thousand million dollars in circulation—gradually.

TODAY Dr. Eliot, [illegible] president of Harvard University, celebrates his ninetieth birthday. That surprises us, but it ought to be the rule instead of the exception. Any man that chooses can live to be 100, barring accident, if he starts out with an average constitution.

The natural age of men, when they realize that one-half of what they eat keeps them alive and the other kills them, will be 140—just twice the Biblical three score and ten.

KEMAL PASHA, having driven out the Caliph, boss of the Mohammedans, proposes now to abolish the Grand Rabbi of Constantinople, much to the distress of the Jews.

Such a step would be mad business and ungrateful. Whether or not it be true, as alleged, that Mohammed's Koran was written for him largely by an intelligent Jew, it is certain that the Koran borrowed a great deal from the Jewish wise men.

FOR CENTURIES Mohammedans and Jews have lived together amicably. The learned Maimonides lived protected in Egypt, peacefully translating the Greek philosophers into Hebrew, safe from Christians that might have burned him, and also his co-religionists in Spain, that excommunicated him, as in the lowlands they excommunicated Spinoza, the greatest Jew.

While the Mohammedan ruler protected Maimonides' body, he, with his medical knowledge, protected that ruler's health.

The quickest way for Kemal Pasha to bring bad times into his "Young Turkey" is to drive out the Jews, whose intelligence and industry build up good times.

GREAT BRITAIN "clamors for a curb on the Prince of Wales' hard riding. Even the House of Commons is excited about it."

IT IS TOO bad that a nice young gentleman should break his collar bone or arm every little while, and it would be very sad if he broke his neck. But what difference does it really make to the British Empire what particular little Guelph-Windsor of the royal family happens to inherit the throne? King George has two other boys, and a nice daughter with a fine little baby. The King has no power, anyhow. All that is required of him is good nature and good behavior. Since the choice of King and Emperor is left to the chance of birth, why not leave the choice of heir to the chances of the steeplechase?

A DANE, sixty years old, normally very blonde, has suddenly turned black. The doctors of Guy's Hospital have him under observation.

SIX BOSTON POLICEMEN DISMISSED

Found Guilty by Trial Board of Various Offences; All Demand Public Hearings

Six Boston policemen charged with offenses ranging from being drunk on duty to untruthfulness, have been dismissed from the force during the past week by a police trial board composed of three police captains, it became known today.

All six have appealed the decision of the trial board, and will be given public hearings before Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson. The first of the hearings is being held today.

Patrolman Anthony Kahler of the Joy street station was dismissed after Helen du Pont, a young girl of Chicopee, was arrested on a statutory charge and Kahler furnished bail for her release. The story she told the police led to charges being preferred against Kahler, and he was later dismissed.

CHANGED ADDRESS.

Patrolman Frank Luisoni of the same station was dismissed for untruthfulness. He moved to a new address on Gates street, several weeks ago and failed to report his change in address. The matter was discovered when Luisoni was summoned to appear in a court case.

A citizen near the Roxbury Crossing station telephoned the station house that Patrolman James F. Kelley was drunk while on duty. A sergeant made an investigation and summoned a doctor who pronounced Kelley intoxicated. His dismissal followed.

Walter O. Hastings, a mounted officer of Back Bay station, was dismissed for conduct unbecoming an officer. Hastings left his horse tied to a telephone pole for several hours. He told his superiors he was summoned into a building and forgot about his horse. No record of any summons into a building could be uncovered in the investigation.

BRIBE CHARGED.

Wilfred N. Maxfield of City Point station was dismissed following his accepting $5 from a former soft drink dealer. Sergeants conceded in a garage saw Maxfield receive the money and a pint of whiskey, they testified.

Patrolman Edward G. Lynch of the West Roxbury station was dismissed after a police surgeon had pronounced him drunk. Lynch went into the Roslindale square fire station and said he was sick. Firemen summoned a doctor, who ordered him sent home. His superiors ordered Lynch from his home to the police station, where he was examined by the police doctor.

Bryan Ready to Run Again if Drafted by Party Leaders

Omaha, Neb., March 20.—If the Democrats have a lot of trouble at the National Convention settling on a candidate they might be successful in persuading William J. Bryan to run again.

Mr. Bryan said as much here today. Mr. Bryan said he was not a candidate and that he preferred a younger man, but that in the remote contingency that the party could find no available candidate, he himself would consider the nomination.

Furthermore, Mr. Bryan is getting so many letters asking him to run again that he has a typewritten reply which he sends in answer.

HUGGER IS ROUTED BY HATPIN

Evelyn McGuiness, 15, Jabs Attacker, Screams, and He Beats a Hasty Retreat

Evelyn, who is only fifteen, was going from a night school class to her home at No. 237 Eagle street, East Boston.

A man slipped up from behind and locked his arms around her slender waist.

Evelyn didn't care much for the caress. But she didn't faint.

Instead, she unsheathed a hatpin and thrust it in the vicinity of the attacker's ribs. Then she screamed.

The girl was too much for the hugger. He went away from there in a rapid manner, while Evelyn, replacing the hatpin, continued home.

The hugger is about 22 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 135 pounds and is of light complexion. He wore a light gray overcoat and a derby hat.

POLICE ROUT 'NEEDY'; GUARD SAMARITAN

Irvington, N. J., March 20.—Police today were protecting the home of Christian Mueller, wealthy retired noodle manufacturer, against flocks of "needy" men who have presented themselves constantly since Mr. Mueller gave a helping hand to a stranger a few weeks ago.

Yesterday the "needy" who appeared in Mr. Mueller's yard numbered eleven at one time, and when the police were called three were present. Mr. Mueller has recently made gifts of several hundred dollars to those seeking financial assistance.

STATE QUIZ FOR 12 'GAS' DEALERS

Hultman's Probe Into Profiteering Opens at a Public Hearing on Monday

The first step in the State investigation of the high price of gasoline was taken today when representatives of twelve oil companies were requested to appear at a public hearing before the Special Commission on the Necessaries of Life, next Monday morning.

Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman notified the representatives of the oil trade that he wanted them to come prepared to give information in regard to the supply and price of gasoline.

The firms notified were:

Standard Oil Co., No. 50 Congress street, Boston; Gulf Refining Company, No. 10 High street, Boston; New England Oil Refining Co., No. 60 Federal street, Boston; Cities Service Refining Company, No. 209 Washington street, Boston; Beacon Oil Company, No. 111 Devonshire street, Boston; Jenney Manufacturing Company, No. 2 India street, Boston; James B. Barry's Sons, Inc., No. 1 Beacon street, Boston; the Texas Company, No. 201 Devonshire street, Boston; Atlantic Petroleum Company, No. 18 Tremont street, Boston; American Oil Company, No. 464 Bridge avenue, Cambridge; Metropolitan Oil Corporation, No. 92 Massachusetts avenue, Boston.

ANOTHER STORM DUE WITH RAIN OR SNOW

Don't be in a hurry to shine up the old garden spade and put away the heavy overcoat. You may need it yet.

Another northeastern storm is forecast for tonight or tomorrow which will bear either rain or snow. The Weather Bureau today issued storm warnings all along the Atlantic coast from the Virginia Capes to Boston. The local forecast is rain or snow late tonight or tomorrow.

U. S. SAILORS REACH HONDURAS CAPITAL

Washington, March 20 (I.N.S.)—The American shipbuilders landed in Honduras and marched across country to the aid of the American embassy force in Tegucigalpa, which has been beleaguered there because of the revolution having arrived safely, according to a dispatch to the State Department today.

Washington, March 20.—A recommendation that R. W. Cole, Democrat, be denied a seat as Representative-at-Large from Texas was made to the House today by one of its elections committees.

BRING BACK HARVARD 'PRINCE'

"Heir to Russian Throne" to Face a Charge of Robbing Student of $200 Roll

Prince Michael Dimitri Obertaski, heir to the Russian throne, is coming back to Cambridge.

The first time the "Prince" visited Cambridge he took up expensive quarters at the Harvard Union. He entertained many Harvard friends at the Cooley Plans.

His second trip will be a little different. This time his valet will wear a natty blue uniform with brass buttons, and he'll have a big badge.

They aren't dusting out the spare room at the Harvard Union, but they are cleaning up a cell in the Cambridge jail for the visitor, who returns as Harvey Ferguson of Hillsboro, Ill.

Chandler A. Chapman, a Harvard student, has charged the "Prince" with the larceny of $200 on December 26.

He has been held for some time at Ellis Island awaiting deportation.

The Cambridge police received word, however, that Uncle Sam has decided that Hillsboro is nearer the young man's birthplace than any place in the vast reaches of Russia.

A copy of the warrant has been sent to New York so that he will be taken into custody as soon as the Federal authorities are finished with him.

COOLIDGE PLURALITY IN NO. DAKOTA 15,000

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—Calvin Coolidge was conceded victor in the Republican Presidential preference primary in North Dakota Tuesday, in a statement issued today by State headquarters of Senator Hiram Johnson. When the Johnson statement was issued, President Coolidge was retaining his plurality of 15,000 votes on latest returns from 1,307 of the State's 2,058 precincts.

In these now returns Senator Robert LaFollette gained a few votes and retained second place, the count for all the reported precincts standing: Coolidge 39,226; La Follette 23,920; Johnson, 23,333.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS TO MEET COOLIDGE

Washington, March 20.—President Coolidge's announced drive to speed up the legislative program will begin tomorrow night, when Republican House leaders will be his guests at a White House dinner conference. Senate leaders will be summoned later.

JACKSON TO OPPOSE FULLER IN PRIMARIES

The candidacy of State Treasurer James Jackson for the Republican nomination for governor, to oppose Lieutenant-Governor Alvan T. Fuller, was announced today by Charles E. Hatfield, of Newton, long active in Republican political circles.

WOMEN'S CLUBS SNUB MABEL NORMAND

Shortly after the shooting of Courtland S. Dines in Hollywood the Chicago chapter asked Mabel to appear in person to tell her story of the affair, which she promised to do.

But Mrs. George Palmer, Springfield, Ill., president of the Illinois federation, announced Mabel would not be permitted to take her case to the women of the State through the medium of the organization.

"I am of the opinion that the majority of the Illinois clubwomen do not wish to see Miss Normand or her films," Mrs. Palmer said.

DON'T KNOW

Meanwhile in Los Angeles Horace A. Greer, Miss Normand's former chauffeur, was given a preliminary hearing on a charge of shooting Dines.

"I don't know who shot me," Dines testified.

Dines' testimony was taken as a big point for the defense, as both Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, film stars, present at the New Year's party in Dines' apartment when the shooting occurred, had previously declared they did not see the attack.

Fight Promoter Tells Story of Deal to Put Over the Dempsey Films

Washington, March 20.—Tex Rickard, fight promoter, told the Daugherty investigating committee today that he "got looked" when he arranged with Charles J. "Jap" Mason, Will A. Orr and the mysterious "Ike" Martin to exhibit motion pictures of the Carpentier-Dempsey fight with immunity from prosecution.

"They never did anything at all for the money," Rickard told the committee, adding that Mason had told him he could get a law passed legalizing the showing of the pictures, but failed to do so.

Emphasizing that none of them claimed any influence with Attorney General Daugherty, Rickard maintained that expenditures of a law to legalize the showings he went ahead and got fined instead.

When he found they were not "delivering the goods" he revised the contract on a basis which contemplated Orr's influence in "fixing it" with the New York State Board of Censorship.

Some results were obtained there, Rickard said, and so the contract finally was revised, he testified. Orr got a little more than $4,000 for his

Rickard and Senator Wheeler in Lively Verbal Fight

Washington, March 20 (I.N.S.)—Tex Rickard became embroiled in a row with Senator Wheeler within thirty minutes after taking the stand at the Daugherty hearing today.

Wheeler accused him of "trying to hide behind the disabled soldiers" after Rickard said the films were first taken from New Jersey to New York to show the soldiers.

"Wait a minute," said Rickard, "let me tell my story."

Wheeler refused to listen and an uproar ensued with both men trying to talk at once. Both were angry and shouting.

KIDNAPING REVEALS BABY FRAUD

Springfield, March 20.—Police of this city today disclosed that the baby torn last night from the arms of its supposed mother, Mrs. Floyd Eckler of Guilford, Vt., by kidnapers, who drove off in a machine with the child, is not the child of Mrs. Eckler at all. It is the child of Miss Anna Nelson, housekeeper for Charles M. Calhoun, assistant clerk of courts of Hampden County. Police declare Mrs. Eckler substituted the baby and made her husband believe it was her own.

TEX RICKARD TELLS HIS STORY OF DEMPSEY FIGHT FILM DEAL

PROMOTER ADMITS HE WAS 'BUNKED' BY PROMISE TO PUT OVER THE PLAN

share and Martin and Muma each got a little more than $2,000.

"I never thought there was any conspiracy," Rickard said.

NEVER MET SMITH

Rickard told of knowing "Jap" Muma, New York representative of Edward B. McLean, Washington publisher, and Fred C. Quimby, film producer, who have been connected by testimony with the picture "deal."

Rickard said he could not remember ever meeting Jess W. Smith, dead friend of Attorney-General Daugherty, but had known Muma for years.

Senator Wheeler, the committee prosecutor, was back on the job today and examined Rickard. He arranged with F. C. Quimby of New York to film the bout, Rickard said, and knew it was a violation of law to transport the pictures into other States, but intended to show them only in New Jersey.

Muma opened negotiations with him, Rickard said, about June 15, 1921, for showing the films outside New Jersey. Many details of the previous accounts of the "deal" testified to by G. O. Holdridge were corroborated by Rickard, including exhibition of the pictures at McLean's home here.

He also said there was a man named "Martin" interested in the transaction.

50 PER CENT. CUT

Rickard told of the contract by which Muma and Martin, who signed, were to get 50 per cent. of the proceeds. Will A. Orr's 20 per cent., Rickard said, was to come from the interest of Muma and Martin.

The film contract dated June 30, 1921, was on the stationery of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

A second contract, produced by Rickard, provided for a 20 per cent. share to Orr and 15 per cent. each to Muma and Martin. Rickard defined that at the start of the exhibition, the plan contemplated initial showing of the films before executives and then to have small fines imposed on "cents" to permit further exhibitions.

"Muma told me he thought he could get a law passed to distribute the pictures," Rickard explained.

"Get a law passed!" Senator Wheeler exclaimed. "You know he didn't, and yet you agreed by contract to give him 50 per cent. of the receipts from the picture?"

"Yes."

FINES AS EXPENSES

Rickard told of knowing Alfred R Urion, local lawyer, identified in the picture "deal," and also identified as a friend of Daugherty.

Illinois and New York were the only States where he was fined, Rickard said, adding that Quimby "attended to" sales for exhibition in other States.

Rickard submitted a statement of proceeds from the pictures, showing that fines were included as "expenses of promotion. Rickard said he paid percentages of the profits to Muma, Orr and Martin, while knowing the pictures were being shipped in violation of the law.

Rickard produced a contract dated June 30 between himself, Muma and "I. N. Martin," providing the latter were to receive 50 per cent. of the gross receipts if a law were passed to legalize interstate showing of the film. This contract, Rickard explained, was replaced, because they "weren't delivering the goods."

When Muma took the picture to Washington was it to promote legislation?"

"No, he said it was for a party."

"Did you make a practice of letting these out to parties?"

"I did to soldiers in hospitals and other places."

Senator Wheeler asked if that sort of showing wasn't part of the scheme by which the exhibitors in each State were arrested and fined once. Rickard said he didn't know.

WAS "BUNKED"

After paying his fine for showing the picture before soldiers on Staten Island, Rickard said he was advised by his lawyer that he could "go ahead" elsewhere in New York, where the gross receipts, Rickard said, were $93,000 and the expenses $82,784.

Senator Wheeler asked if "the expenses in Chicago were very large.

"Quimby said they were."

"Wasn't there $35,000 or so paid to attorneys?"

"I don't see how there was that much—the sale there was for $25,000," Rickard said. "Quimby said there was a loss there of $5,000."

Senator Wheeler read from the record that $82,784 had been spent in New York on the film expense, fines and all.

"Why should you give up 15 per cent to Muma, and these others?" he demanded.

"I got bunked," that's all."

"Yet you made a second contract with these men?"

"Yes—we got afraid of the censorship board in New York, got Orr to work on it and got past the board in August, 1921."

"You don't want to tell us, that with your experience, you fell for their story, that these men were going to get a law passed in a few days?" suggested Senator Wheeler.

"They talked to me as though they could get it through in two weeks."

ONLY $34,000

He added that Muma, Orr and Martin "got their money without doing anything."

An auditor's statement was presented showing that the entire profits of New York was $34,000. This contradicted Quimby's statement that the profits were $125,000.

Orr received, Rickard said, $4,598.02 and Muma and Martin $3,381 up to October, 1921, which was the last statement he ever got. Quimby destroyed or burned his account books and never paid him his entire share.

Senator Jones asked if Rickard got Orr to "fix" the New York Censorship Board.

"To influence it."

"I'd like to make a statement," Rickard went on. "I'd like to tell the amounts actually given to Muma and Martin. The entire profits were $26,065 in the States outside of Jersey. Quimby went to Germany and burned up the books. Orr got about $4,000, Muma $3,381 and Martin $3,381."

"You are the same Rickard who said up in New York you'd bet a million dollars they didn't get Daugherty?" remarked Senator Wheeler.

MILLION-DOLLAR BET

"I didn't make any million-dollar remark," Rickard said.

Senator Wheeler read a record of $131,000 gross receipts from the picture in New York. Expenses included $2,500 as attorney fees to Alfred S. Urion, a man named Dickerson got $2,500 and "Sanborn $5,000," Senator Wheeler proceeded.

"These are all marked as attorney fees," he commented.

"Sanborn isn't an attorney, nor is Dickerson," Rickard returned. "Those were men who took the films to other States."

Rickard asserted he had not met Attorney-General Daugherty.

"How did Urion, the Attorney-General's friend, come to be your attorney in this matter?"

"He wasn't, except in Nebraska or Minnesota."

Senator Wheeler cited the $2,500 payment to Urion in New York.

"Quimby was the man who made all the arrangements," said Rickard.

"Don't you know the reason why your expenses were so big was because Quimby was paying out a lot to fix things?"

BOASTED INFLUENCE

"I don't know that," said Rickard. "Quimby paid out a lot of money he didn't account for, but I think it was from one pocket to another."

"Yes, and you paid out to Orr 20 per cent. yourself to fix things?"

"No, to pass censorship up in New York."

Rickard said he never had been able to get a final accounting with Quimby or details of the large expenses in New York.

"Who broached this matter of a 50 per cent. division in the first place?" Senator Jones asked.

"Muma and Martin," said Rickard. "They thought they could get this law passed and that it would be worth something."

Muma, he thought, was "a very influential fellow" with "a lot of friends in the Senate."

"And all the showing of power and influence Muma made to you was his statement he knew a few Senators?" asked Chairman Brookhart.

"He said he knew some," replied Rickard.

THREATENED JAIL

"Quimby testified here that Mr. Hayward, your attorney in New York, suggested you lay low for thirty days," Attorney Howland put in.

"All Hayward said to me was 'All of you ought to be in jail, you've already committed a crime and you've got to pay a fine,'" said Rickard.

He never heard anyone in Hayward's office, he testified by Quimby, say that further exhibitions should be delayed a while, until "things quieted down."

Rickard was excused.

The question of examining the books of the Midland National Bank of Washington Courthouse, Ohio, in connection with testimony of Roxie Stinson was brought up by Senator Wheeler, who said that M. S. Daugherty, brother of the Attorney General, and president of the bank, had refused to allow examination.

Attorney Howland said it had been agreed that only Jess W. Smith's accounts with the bank were to be examined, but Senator Wheeler insisted the subpoena called for much wider examination.

Jap Muma was then called but did not answer. Senator Wheeler then called Thomas G. Spellacy, former Department of Justice agent, regarding the investigation of the fight film "deal."

He said he signed the statement submitted by Holdridge, characterizing it as "absolutely true." In that statement Muma quoted Daugherty as having said to him, relative to the fight film deal, that if it were put over, Muma "ought to get a big cut, not less than 50 per cent."

SAW LETTERS

He said Muma showed him a letter from Daugherty, promising aid in securing an appointment in the Department of Justice, and also told him of being a friend of William J. Burns.

Spellacy corroborated testimony of Holdridge that Muma had told of the fight film exhibition at the McLean home, and had mentioned President Harding and Mr. Daugherty as among those present.

Another statement of Holdridge corroborated by Spellacy was that Muma had told of a conversation with Daugherty and George B. Christian, former secretary to President Harding.

"If I recall, Daugherty said it was against the law to transport the pictures from one State to another but he thought the law was made for a nigger," said Spellacy, quoting Muma.

"To be frank with you," said Spellacy, "I had a great admiration for Muma, and believed in the influence he had. I wanted him to get a promotion for my chief, believing the chief would take care of me when he went up in the department."

"Muma told you of showing the fight pictures in Washington to President Harding, to Mr. Daugherty, several members of the Cabinet?" Senator Wheeler asked.

"Yes, sir, and by that time my breath was gone."

Spellacy said he had never met Jess Smith, nor "heard his name mentioned." He recalled that Muma spoke of visiting McLean and Burns here and discussing the possibility of his being prosecuted.

"NEAR THRONE"

Muma told him of McLean having "called up" the Attorney-General, who referred him to Burns, Spellacy said, and confirmed the testimony of Holdridge, who said Burns declared there was no use interceding on behalf of Rickard.

Muma, Spellacy said, convinced him that he was "pretty well up to the throne."

Spellacy remembered some of Holdridge's reports on other details.

"I remember Muma saying Urion and Daugherty were associate counsel in some Chicago case."

"Remember that Muma said he did go to Urion?"

"Yes; that he saw Urion quite often."

"And at these meetings they planned how to send the pictures around the country?"

"Yes."

"And that there was to be a gout in each State to be fined?"

"I don't remember just as to that—to connect up that goat word—they used characteristic language."

Senator Wheeler read from Holdridge's report representing Muma as calling himself "the master mind," the friend of President Harding, who calls me "Jap."

Spellacy confirmed it.

CALLS BURNS LIAR

"What changes did you want to make in Holdridge's statement?" Attorney Howland inquired.

"Well, as I remember Muma's statement," Spellacy began, "it wasn't that Daugherty suggested it 50 per cent. out, but that he thought Muma was interceding for Rickard and that Daugherty said Muma ought to get an interest for that. Muma said he told Daugherty he was going to get an interest."

After a lively tilt between Senator Daugherty's counsel, Senator Wheeler recalled Holdridge and cited William J. Burns' public statement referring to Holdridge's letter asking reinstatement of her husband.

"After you were reinstated, did Mr. Burns direct you to go on a trip with the President of the United States?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"He did."

"Mr. Burns has said I wept like a child," exploded Holdridge. "Mr. Burns is a liar."

Al Jennings, Train Robber, Called in Teapot Probe

Washington, March 20.—Al Jennings, once famous train robber of Oklahoma, is to be summoned to Washington by the oil committee.

In announcing a subpoena for Jennings, Senator Walsh said he would be questioned in connection with the rumor that Jake Hamon, former Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, undertook to put through an "oil deal" at the Chicago Republican convention in 1920.

OIL COMMITTEE FAILS TO FIND WAHLBERG

Sinclair's Former Private Secretary, Who Mentioned Hays, Is Absent

Washington, March 20.—The Senate Oil Committee suffered a temporary setback today when it undertook to inquire into a story that Harry F. Sinclair had turned over a large batch of securities to Attorney-General Daugherty and Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, to help wipe out the heavy deficit incurred by the party treasury in the campaign of 1920.

Process servers reported that so far they had been unable to locate G. D. Wahlberg, former private secretary to Sinclair, who was to have taken the stand today as the first witness in the new line of investigation.

Senator Walsh said he had information Wahlberg was in Havana. If this is the case the committee is without power to compel his attendance, and since Hays has been subpoenaed for Saturday, it is probable no further effort will be made to find Wahlberg.

Whether Daugherty will be called before the committee has not yet been determined.

HAYS' STORY.

Hays has been subpoenaed to appear later, and Sinclair probably will be questioned tomorrow.

When he was before the committee some weeks ago, Wahlberg testified that Sinclair turned over $25,000 in Liberty Bonds to "Mr. Hays." He did not identify the man named and the committee did not follow up his statement.

At the beginning of today's session, the committee heard a statement by former Representative Thomas J. Ryan of New York, who testified as a voluntary witness to deny the testimony of Louis F. Bond, the committee accountant, that Ryan had had transactions in oil stocks.

"I will ask an apology from the committee," he said.

"There is no apology due you," replied Senator Walsh. "It is merely a case of mistaken identity."

MORE STOCK SALES.

The committee turned its attention to other ramifications of its inquiry. Louis F. Bond, the committee's investigator, explained more details on stock transactions.

Questioned about Attorney-General Daugherty's stock account, Bond said the first transaction was the sale of 500 shares of Sinclair Consolidated and the next was an outright purchase of the same number of shares.

Details of the oil stock transactions of Jess W. Smith, confidant of the Attorney-General, as given by Bond, showed a net profit of $1,531 in 1922.

BURNS DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF FUND PLEAS

Not Familiar With Letters Soliciting Money for Vets, Defendant Testifies

William H. Burns, the president, was not familiar with letter soliciting money, sent out by the Massachusetts Association for Disabled Veterans of the World War, he declared today at the Federal trial of himself and three other officers.

The four officers are charged with fraudulent use of the mails in connection with the association's activities.

Under cross-examination by Assistant United States District Attorney Essex Abbott, Burns said he was unable to recollect certain of his expense bills to the organization.

Burns testified he had an advisory board of a number of prominent persons.

Q.—How did you get them? A.—They were selected by the board of directors and myself.

Q.—Have you letters from them now? A.—Yes.

MISSING CATHEDRAL CHOIR BOY IS BEING HUNTED ON RADIO

MYSTERIOUS NOTE ARRIVES AT BRAINTREE HOME

Wideman Bartlett, sixteen years old, former choir boy at St. Paul's Cathedral, has mysteriously vanished and search is being made for him by the Boston police and throughout the country by radio.

A note signed "Doc," postmarked Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard, has been received at the missing boy's home, No. 140 School street, Braintree, but gives no hint that young Bartlett planned to go away.

The writer, whose identity the police have been unable to discover, said he was disappointed that he did not meet the lad and that he hoped to see Wideman in Boston next Sunday.

Wideman is the son of Mrs. Florence Bartlett of Braintree. His father was the late Rev. Walter R. Bartlett, a Baptist clergyman, who occupied pulpits in Rockport, Abington, Braintree and other New England communities.

Wideman was a choir boy at St. Paul's for several years. Recently he lost his singing voice and has been assisting at the altar. He left St. Paul's early Sunday afternoon to go to Braintree to attend a meeting of a young people's society in the Congregational Church. He was a member of the society. Wideman has never been seen or heard from since.

A description of the missing ex-choir boy as given out by the Boston police and broadcast over the radio follows:

Five feet five inches in height, weight 120 pounds, light complexion, blue-gray eyes, medium brown hair, has a red mark under the right eye, wore a blue serge suit, brown low shoes, khaki overcoat and brown soft hat.

Wideman has many friends in Braintree, and they as well as his mother are at loss to account for his strange disappearance.

MAYOR APPOINTS FOUR ASSESSORS

Mayor Curley today appointed as first assistant assessors, George C. Wood, Republican, and Walter J. Hope, John F. Buckley, and John F. Murphy, at $1,600 a year, who were named to fill vacancies which existed in that department. Of hte appointees, Wood is well known in political circles, having at one time taken out nomination papers as a candidate for mayor.

The mayor also appointed four temporary stenographers in the Soldiers' Relief Department, at $1,200 a year.

He awarded a contract amounting to $4,600 to the Library Bureau for the listing of names in the polls for use in the assessing department.

McCOY GAINS OVER TREASURY ESTIMATE

Washington, March 20.—About $166,000,000 more would be collected by the government in taxes next fiscal year, under estimates prepared by Joseph McCoy, government actuary, than under Treasury estimates on which the estimate of the surplus available for tax reduction was based.

A report submitted by Under-Secretary Winston of the Treasury to the Senate Finance Committee shows that Mr. McCoy estimated the government would receive $88,415,000 more this fiscal year and $166,415,000 the next than estimated by the Treasury.

BAREFOOT GIRLS SHOCK CHURCH HEAD

EXPONENTS OF PAGANISM

Dancers clothed in flowing Greek robes, whose classical interpretations have been upheld by the vestry of the Episcopal Church of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie in defiance of Bishop Manning.

DANCE RITUALS HELD; BISHOP IS DEFIED

St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie Vestry Decides to Keep on With Pageants

New York, March 20.—Pagan-like rituals—if such they are—and dance services are to be continued in the Church of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie, Episcopal Bishop Manning to the contrary notwithstanding. The church vestry decided this afternoon after three hours of what was reported to have been a stormy meeting.

Bishop Manning's order against dances staged by the Rev. William Norman Guthrie, rector of the church, is to be disregarded. The vestry will give visible proof of its defiance of the bishop when on Sunday what is described as the dance of the Annunciation will be given in the church.

Nor will Bishop Manning be without warning that his mandate is to be ignored. Following it's meeting the vestry framed a letter for delivery to the bishop today. This notifies him the church body stands by its rector and the dancing will go on as usual.

Neither Dr. Guthrie nor any of the vestrymen would venture a guess as to what action Bishop Manning might take to enforce his decree against the ritual and the like. All they would say was the services as heretofore held and planned under a ban by Bishop Manning would be continued in the future.

PORTLAND INVITES FRISCO CHAMBER

MONEY PUT IN "DOUGHNUT HOLES"

Investors of $9,800 in Business Charge C. A. Bell With Larceny

Springfield, March 20.—Where do the holes in the doughnut go? Ask Barney Shapiro, a junk dealer of No. 55 Morgan street, Springfield, or Frank H. Paul of Worcester. Shapiro invested $9,000 in a doughnut business, while Paul sank $800 in the same venture.

The fact came to light today with the arrest of Charles A. Bell of No. 64 Church street.

Bell owns a doughnut-making machine. According to the police, he has been in the habit of going to a city, opening up a big doughnut factory and interesting capitalists. To each of those who invested in his doughnut foundry he promised lucrative employment.

Some months ago he opened the Superior Doughnut Company on Church street, Springfield. He leased a building from Shapiro. No rent was ever paid. When the rent bill became big-beauty, Bell talked Shapiro into going into partnership. Shapiro did so.

When the crash came Bell moved his doughnut mill over to Worcester, leaving Shapiro with $9,000 worth of unpaid and collectable bills.

In Worcester the Downey Flake Doughnut Company was opened at No. 24 School street. Worcester residents invested in the company and all were promised good jobs. Paul was the first to discover that all he was getting was the doughnut holes and he had Bell arrested charged with larceny. Bell will be turned over to the Worcester police.

DR. ELIOT 90 YEARS OLD TODAY

Great Harvard Educator Is Honored in Notable Celebration

The ninetieth birthday of Dr. Charles William Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard and called "the father of the American University," today draws a notable list of his admirers to Cambridge.

Chief Justice William Howard Taft of the United States Supreme Court, former President of the United States, and Governor Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts were among those named as speakers in Sanders Theatre.

Others included A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard, and James R. Angell, president of Yale. Chief Justice Taft's address was to be made "on behalf of the American Public."

BORN IN BOSTON.

Dr. Eliot, still active in spite of his years, having just published a new volume of essays and lectures, prepared for the occasion a response to the congratulatory addresses.

After the formal exercises, the plans for the day called for Dr. Eliot to surrender himself in the open air of the "Yard" to the greetings of students of the university which he led for forty years.

Dr. Eliot was born in Boston on March 20, 1834. He was graduated from Boston Latin School and from Harvard with the class of 1853. He has degrees from nine universities, American and foreign.

WON ROOSEVELT MEDAL.

He makes his home at No. 17 Fresh Pond Parkway, Cambridge, with his second wife, his first having died in 1909.

He has eleven grandchildren and ten great grandchildren who join today with the general public in making his birthday notable.

Dr. Eliot's latest honor was the winning of the Roosevelt Memorial Association's medal "for distinguished service in the leadership of youth and the development of American character."

Dr. Eliot's signal achievement, the association declared, was in turning a New England college into a world institution, and instituting changes in methods which revolutionized American higher education.

He introduced the system in Harvard of allowing students comparative freedom in choosing their own studies, believing that this developed self-reliance.

PROGRAM OF EXERCISES.

The program of the afternoon follows:

2:20—All aids and marshals report at Sanders Theatre.

2:45—South door of Memorial Hall and doors of Sanders Theatre opened to reserved seat ticket holders, officers of instruction and administration and alumni. Memorial Hall will be opened to all university and alumni officials, delegates and guests designated to march in the procession.

3:00—Music by the orchestra will begin in Sanders Theatre.

3:10—Reservations of space in Sanders Theatre for ticket holders, officers of instruction and administration and alumni will cease and doors will be opened to the public, if space permits.

3:15—Procession formed in Memorial Hall.

3:25—Doors closed to the public. Dr. Eliot and escort arrive. President Lowell, Chief Justice Taft, Justice Sanford and President Coolidge arrive. Governor Cox and escort arrive.

3:20—Procession starts from Memorial Hall and enters Sanders Theatre.

3:30—Meeting begins.

5:00—Meeting ends. Dr. Eliot and escort proceed to the yard.

5:10—Dr. Eliot and escort arrive in front of University Hall. Crowds of students of the university.

5:20—Dr. Eliot escorted to his house.

The yard will be open to the public, who will have an opportunity to see the demonstration by the students shortly after 5 o'clock. Marshal Hubbard will present Dr. Eliot with parchments from the college and each of the graduate schools. The present emeritus will respond, and then Robert B. Bullard of the senior class will lead a regular Harvard cheer for the ninety-year-old educator and public-spirited citizen. The Harvard band and the glee club will both contribute to the exercises in the yard.

MERCHANT HELD UP BY BANDITS

Forced to Produce $100 at Point of Pistol in Charlestown Store

Two bandits walked into the drygoods store of Abraham Mazow, No. 73 Main street, Charlestown, today, jammed a pistol in front of his face and forced Mazow to hand over $100 from his trousers pocket.

When they entered Mazow was waiting on a customer. They shouted a friendly greeting to him and waited until the customer left. Then came the stickup and robbery.

Abraham Mazow.

The bandits ordered Mazow to keep quiet or lose his life and calmly walked out of the store and disappeared around the corner.

About two years ago two bandits blackjacked Mazow in his store and robbed him of $180.

FEARS RUSSIA WILL INVADE MANCHURIA

Chinese Government Orders Soviet Envoy to Leave the Country

London, March 20 (I.N.S.)—The Chinese Government has ordered the Russian Soviet envoy, M. Karakhan, to leave the country as a result of ultimatum served upon China by Soviet Russia demanding Chinese recognition within two days, said a Peking dispatch to the Daily Mail today.

A tense situation is developing between China and Russia. The Bolshevists control Mongolia and fears are felt in Peking that Russia will invaded Manchuria.

Russian officials allege that American and Japanese pressure prevented China from ratifying the recognition protocol after the Chinese delegates signed it.

Charity Ball to Draw Smart Set to the Copley-Plaza, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

MRS. FOSTER M. TRAINER is one of the patronesses for the ball taking place tomorrow night at the Copley-Plaza. Proceeds from the affair—the hours are from 8 until 1—will be added to the Harriet M. Bushnell Memorial Fund, which is connected with the Elizabeth Peabody House.

The corps of young men who will act as ushers are headed by Josiah H. Child. The latter is the fiance of slim and dark haired Miss Ellen Lovering, the first debutante of the past season to become engaged.

Mrs. F. M. Trainer (Photo by Ys Cuffe man Studio)

A few other patronesses besides Mrs. Trainer for tomorrow night's ball include Mesdames T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., Langdon Frothingham, Thomas B. Gannett, Jr., James B. Greenough, Edward J. Holmes and Edwin S. Webster.

THERE is an interesting exhibition of paintings by Lilla Cabot Perry, now going on at the Guild galleries on Newbury street, and continuing until the 29th.

There is a delightful picture called The Open-Air Concert, which shows a little pig-tailed girl playing her violin to two wistful-eyed playmates. It is a garden scene, and the sun is making golden streaks on the blue and pink dresses of the little girls.

Quite striking is the canvas which the artist calls Defiance, while the portrait of the almond-eyed Tokyo children is very charming.

Among the other works are several landscapes and an exceptionally fine study of the old New England type.

MISS ANNE R. BOWEN will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Lois Arnold and Stanwood K. Bolton, the ceremony taking place on Saturday afternoon in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Miss Rosamond Arnold will attend her sister as a maid of honor—the third sister, Miss Marie Arnold, being of the bridesmaids group, which includes, besides Miss Bowen, the Misses Elizabeth DeBlois and Rose Parker. The bride-to-be, who made her debut with the buds of 1920-21, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Kent Arnold of Gloucester street.

ADVENTURES OF SLEUTH SHOCK AUDIENCE

Staid Nashua Citizens Quit Hall as Hub Man Bares Secrets of "Wet" City

Nashua, N. H., March 20.—Charles H. Smith may have had some interesting experiences as a detective in Boston, but Nashua isn't interested any more.

The 300 persons who attended a lecture by Smith in City Hall haven't even recovered from it yet, according to the trustees of the Hunt Legacy Lecture Course.

These 300 amazed listeners agreed with Detective Smith when he said that in his two hours in Nashua he found the city had more liquor than any other of its size in New England.

But it wasn't the liquor phase of the lecture that brought 288 of the audience to their feet and led them to leave the lecture hall. It was Detective Smith's frank recital of "anecdotes and experiences" in connection with his years of detecting, according to the trustees.

Smith's lecture is described by Nashua people as "the biggest surprise of the thirty-three years of the course in Nashua."

Following the lecture, B. E. Warrent, one of the trustees, made a public apology for the lecture, stating:

"The trustees were as much surprised and disappointed at what occurred as the audience were. It is needless to say that the lecture given from the platform was not the one commented on, nor the one the notes of which were read over on the arrival of the lecturer. It was an unfortunate occurrence for all concerned."

The lecture, the fifth in this year's course, has been crossed off the trustee's books and tonight a substitute lecture on the White Mountains will be given in City Hall by Albert L. Squier.

STUDENTS ON STRIKE ON PLAY-SMOKING BAN

Catskill, N. Y., March 20.—The smoking of a cigarette in a class play has caused a strike among students of the Catskill High School. Half the pupils walked out in protest against a proposed action by school officials restraining Chauncey Smith, a senior, from further participation in school activities.

Smith was in the cast of the senior class play in which action provided for smoking. The faculty directed the smoking to be eliminated as violating rules. Four actors smoked when the play was presented and the pupils were told Smith would be disciplined.

WHEN IS DRUG STORE NOT A DRUG STORE

Trenton, N. J., March 20.—That the question as to what constitutes a drug store will be definitely determined by the courts is the anticipation of the State Board of Pharmacy, according to an announcement from the members today.

The board called attention to the fact that it supervises drug stores which dispensed drugs, but has no authority over druglese drug stores which have sprung up in New Jersey since prohibition.

"SPITE WORK," SAYS INCE OF $50,000 SUIT

Gives His Version for First Time of What Happened After Roadhouse Party

Los Angeles, March 20 (I.N.S.).—"Spite work and a desire to get revenge for fancied wrongs."

So Ralph Ince, noted motion picture director, today characterized the $50,000 damage suit filed against him in New York by George Stewart, brother of Anita Stewart, and also brother of Lucy Stewart, the wife from whom Ince has been separated for a year.

Ralph Ince

Anita Stewart

The suit is a revival of a sensation of some months ago when the Stewart family charged Ince with having attacked young Stewart during a midnight motor trip while returning from a gay party. It was said that Stewart objected to Ince's alleged comments on his sister and that the attack followed, leaving Stewart with a fractured skull and serious injuries. These alleged injuries are made the basis of the suit.

Ince never gave his version of what happened on the Boston post road on the night of August 8, when he, young Stewart and a party of guests were returning from a roadhouse dinner. He denied the charges and let it go at that. But today he told his story for the first time.

"Young George was having difficulty finding work," said Ince. "He was trying to get in at the studios, without success, and he was becoming melancholy. The family asked me to try to help him, and I found for him a place as assistant.

"We started back from the roadhouse late in the evening. Julia Ring and her husband had gone earlier.

"George became more and more abusive. At last he said something that was too much for me to stand. I stopped the car and started to get out, thinking only of getting a taxi and sending George home alone. As I stepped out, the boy came at me like a maniac. He tore my coat and pounded at me blindly. I tried to hold him off, and just then the chauffeur reached out and hooked his arm around my neck.

"I swear that I never hit the boy. I had to hold him off to protect myself, but I was thinking more about the 200-pound chauffeur and how to get him loose than about George.

"George was in no condition to go home, but as soon as the fight was over, he sobered down and began to cry and plead with me to get him fixed up.

"A few days later came this steady stream of accusations."

IRISH GENERAL IS OUSTED BY COSGRAVE

Chief of Staff Refused to Resign; Mutineers Are Given Chance to Surrender

Dublin, March 20 (A.P.).—The question of President Cosgrave filling the post of Minister of Defence, made vacant by the resignation of Richard Mulcahy, was considered by the Dail Eireann today.

W. T. Cosgrave

Kevin O'Higgins, Minister of Home Affairs, moved that the president be appointed to the post, saying that during Mr. Cosgrave's illness O'Higgins would act for him in that ministry. Tom Johnson, Labor member, opposed the appointment.

Announcement was made by Mr. O'Higgins that Mulcahy had informed him that General MacMahon, chief of staff, had refused his resignation on the ground that no reasons were given why he should retire. The government, the Home Affairs Minister added, could not accept a situation in which it must give reasons and had decided to appoint General MacMahon's commission.

RUNS OVER MAN WHO POINTED GUN

Lawrence, March 20.—When Nazareno Sherbo of Haverhill slowed up his coupe at the corner of Jackson and Elm streets to avoid striking two men, he was surprised when one of the men drew a revolver and ordered him to stop the car. Sherbo stepped on the gas. His car shot forward and struck one of the men, the wheels passing over him. Sherbo made a report of the affair to the police, but no trace of the men could be found.

BROKER CASES PRESENTED TO GRAND JURY

District Attorney O'Brien Gives Evidence Against Boston Firms Today

District Attorney O'Brien presents evidence against certain Boston brokers to the Suffolk County Grand Jury today.

This news corrects any misunderstanding to the effect that the entire matter of prosecution against accused brokerage houses would be left to Federal authorities.

Next week the Federal grand jury will hear testimony from a score of brokers and others concerned in the affairs of G. F. Redmond & Co., as related to the selling campaign of Boston-Montana mining stock in New England.

One of the latest additions to the list of brokerage firms being looked into by the District Attorney is Dudley & Co., No. 185 Devonshire street.

SAY CHECKS VALUELESS.

Among the complaints lodged against this firm are those of persons holding checks of the firm which they have been unable to cash, it is alleged. These checks are in the possession of the district attorney.

The affairs of the brokerage house of W. E. Wilson & Co., No. 185 Devonshire street, are also being investigated. This firm went into bankruptcy yesterday.

Two petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the Federal building. The first, an involuntary proceeding, was followed by a voluntary petition in bankruptcy which gave liabilities as "uncertain, but about $56,693.33." Assets were given as "doubtful," but included one overseas U. S. uniform, one army helmet and one gas mask.

$50,000 LOSS IN WEBSTER.

The largest creditor is W. L. Jarvis & Co. with claims of $22,901. The Jarvis firm formerly acted as New York brokers for G. F. Redmond & Co. Inc. F. Brewster Hooker of Hingham, formerly in business with Wilson under the firm name of Wilson & Hooker, has a claim for $9,000.

Reports are piling in connecting the losses suffered by customers of the Redmond concern in the small cities of Massachusetts. It was said today by one man representing creditors that citizens of Webster, Mass., alone have lost $50,000 in the Redmond crash.

DRY AGENT FINED FOR HAVING LIQUOR

Portland, Me., March 20.—Daniel A. Driscoll of Boston, an agent attached to the Internal Revenue Collection Department of Maine, was found guilty of unlawful possession of nearly two gallons of alcohol and a half pint of gin in Municipal Court and was sentenced to pay a fine of $400 and costs and serve three months in jail. He appealed and furnished bail.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggists Say Ladies Are Using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get the famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

To Remove Hair Use Del-a-tone

Thousands of dainty women consider Del-a-tone an indispensable beauty aid. Always safe, safe, and satisfactory. Just apply in smooth paste, wash off, and find your skin smooth and dainty. This reliable, scientific preparation has been in general use for 14 years. Made by The Sheffield Co., 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. WOMEN HELD AS WITNESSES IN KILLING

Suspect in Rhode Island Case Reveals Identity of Wife and Girl

Providence, March 20.—Two women, members of a gay drinking party that was being staged in Peters' road house, Barrington, when Herman Esser was fatally shot, are being held as material witnesses. The women are Mrs. Ethel Anthony, 29, whose husband lives at No. 29 Burnside street, and Dorothy Amato, 21, who refuses to give any other address than Providence.

The identity of the women was learned when police questioned James "Tomateen" Amato of Providence, who is being held for the murder.

The Anthony woman, who does not live with her husband, was released on bond of $2, which was furnished by Mrs. Mary E. Russell of Old Barrington road. The Amato girl is locked up awaiting the arrival of a bondsman.

Esser and three male companions drove to the roadhouse last Friday evening. While the three men remained in the car, Esser walked into the place. A few moments later he staggered to the porch and told his friends he had been shot.

Amato, who was in the roadhouse, finally admitted that he knew two women who were members of a drinking party in the roadhouse, although he claims he did not know the names of the men who were with them.

torney Hahn for dismissal of the complaint, Justice Hanby ruled that Greer must stand trial in Superior Court. His bail will remain at $3,000 and he will be at liberty pending the trial, date of which was not set.

"I can't explain what happened," Dines said when questioned about the shooting. "I didn't see Greer make any motion. I don't know who shot me. My mind was a blank on that point."

"Did Mabel Normand shoot you?" questioned Deputy District Attorney Fred Shelley.

"I don't remember," Dines replied.

"Did Edna Purviance shoot you?"

"I said, 'I don't remember who shot me,'" Dines reiterated. It was recalled that after the shooting he directly accused Greer.

"Was there any one else in the apartment besides Miss Normand, Miss Purviance and Greer when you were shot?" Shelley asked.

"Was there anyone else in the room. But I don't know who shot me," Dines declared.

"Greer came in and wanted Mabel to go home. I went over and closed the door and came back to Greer's side. He only talked to Mabel a minute or two. I didn't see him make any motion. I didn't see him pull a gun."

BLIND MAN INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

William Scott, sixty, a blind man, of No. 83 Paris street, East Boston, was severely bruised and shaken up today when hit by an automobile as he was crossing Meridian street. The machine was driven by Edward A. Smith of No. 24 Grove street, Belmont. Scott refused to go to the hospital and was sent home after being treated by a physician.

BOY THUGS TAKE 11 CENTS IN HOLDUP

Lawrence, March 20.—Eleven cents was the total amount of loot secured by two youthful thugs who beat and robbed Joseph Bovak of No. 65 Chestnut street, early today. The highwaymen, neither more than nineteen years of age, followed Bovak into an alley when the latter took a short-cut to the home of a relative. Bovak gave a description of his assailants to the police.

18 MEN FACING SLOW DEATH ON JAP SUB

Graphic Stories of Their Suffocation Are Being Received Through Underwater Phone

Tokio, March 20 A.P.)—Graphic descriptions of the emotions of 18 men facing a slow death from suffocation are being received by underwater telephone from members of the crew trapped within the Japanese navy submarine 43, resting on the sea bottom off Sasebo Harbor, according to dispatches today, to the navy office here from Sasebo naval base.

It was determined that twenty-four men and two officers, one of them Commander Kuwasima, perished when the forward compartment was flooded as a result of the shattering of the conning tower in a collision yesterday with the warship Tatsuta. Two engineer officers and sixteen men still are alive.

Ten divers were striving to attach chains by which the submarine could be pulled up with heavy winches.

The collision which sent the craft to the bottom in 26 fathoms of water occurred just as the submarine was coming to the surface with her periscope showing.

STATE RESTS IN TRIAL OF CORCORAN

Concludes Evidence, and Jury Visits Cambridge Apartment, Scene of "Raid"

The State rested its case today in the trial of William J. Corcoran and others in the Middlesex Superior Court, charged with conspiracy to attempt to extort money from Kenneth Merrill, Newton manufacturer.

The jury was taken to the apartment house at No. 88 Hancock street, Cambridge, where Merrill, in company with Mrs. Theresa Dugnan and Mrs. Lillian Reese, was found by a "raiding" party.

The State requested that the jury look over the apartment which, it was brought out in the testimony, was occupied by Mrs. Dugnan.

Miss Ada Wall, a matron at a private school from whom the apartment was rented, was cross-examined. She admitted she was not entirely sure that the rent for the apartment was paid by J. Warren Cable, as it was possible, she said, the money might have been sent by mail.

Wilbur F. Turner, hand writing expert and a State witness, recalled for cross-examination by Attorney Joseph P. Walsh, attorney for Corcoran, testified that writing of the name of William J. Corcoran, presented to him by the defense, outside of court, was not by the same person who wrote the signatures on the documents submitted in evidence by the State.

House Falls, 15 Dead

Lisbon, Portugal, March 20.—Fifteen persons were killed when a four-story house collapsed today. Thirty persons were buried under the ruins.

ALLEN BOOK CAUSES PARIS RULE ATTACK

Paris, March 20.—Extracts from a recently published book by Major-General Henry T. Allen, who commanded the American occupation forces in Germany, are published today by the Communist newspaper Humanite and form the basis of a bitter attack upon the government by the paper for "its policy of dismemberment of Germany."

The paper says the extracts throw "new light upon French intrigues in the Rhineland tending to the formation of a Rhineland republic for the purpose of crushing Germany."

And to mark our twenty-five years of money-saving service to the Housewives of New England we have arranged a list of attractive values for 25 cents.

Read the list in the column at the left—each item can be bought for a SILVER QUARTER during the one week of our Silver Anniversary Sale.

We have also arranged to include a number of other articles—things you'll be as glad to stock up with.

Twenty-five years ago a silver quarter had a greater purchasing power than it has today. But even then New England housewives found that each quarter went further at "Connor's."

Through all the years of rising prices this has held true. Our cash and carry method of doing business; our ability to buy in enormous quantities—which has steadily increased as more and more Brookside Stores have been opened—have meant great savings which have always been shared with our customers.

And so today you will still find that your quarter "goes further at Connor's"—that in Brookside Stores you get the best of everything at prices which make it decidedly worth while to "Cash and Carry" your groceries.

Brookside Stores pride themselves on their courteous treatment of children customers. A small child will receive the same consideration as an adult.

SEEK MOTHER AND SON FOR ASSAULT

Mrs. Nelli Dooley of Castle Rock road, Saugus, had a hunch that policemen were to call upon her in a short time, and so when they arrived with a warrant charging her and her seventeen-year-old son, Frank, with attacking a neighbor, Mrs. Winifred Ryan, they found the Dooley house bare.

The argument between the neighbors developed over ownership of a well, located on the property line. Mrs. Dooley reinforced her arguments with a club, which she used over Mrs. Ryan's head, it is alleged. Frank helping her. Mrs. Ryan is under the care of a physician and the Saugus police are looking for the Dooleys.

DYING WIFE IS REFUSED AID BY HUSBAND

Police Overpower Cambridge Man to Rescue Badly Burned Woman

In response to an emergency call from neighbors, the Cambridge police burst into the home of Philip McNabb at No. 111 Putnam avenue, Cambridge, found Mrs. Theresa McNabb dying of burns about the waist and neck and her husband standing over her making no effort to call for aid or medical treatment.

When the police attempted to remove the woman to the hospital, her husband stood in their way and fought to prevent them from approaching his wife, it is alleged.

The police overpowered McNabb and removed the wife to the Cambridge City Hospital, where she is reported to be in a critical condition.

The mysterious actions of the husband in trying to prevent aid from being rendered the woman is under investigation by the police.

The manner in which the burns were suffered and how the blaze was extinguished is unknown.

Neighbors, attracted by the screams of Mrs. McNabb, sent out the alarm to the police, which resulted in the arrival of Patrolmen Moylan and Linehan on the scene. The officers were obliged to force the door of the McNabb apartment to gain entrance.

What Bay Staters Are Saying

STATE TREASURER JAMES JACKSON, at a luncheon of the Building Managers' Association in the City Club, said: "If we are going to keep democracy, we must go back to the theory of local self-government. The work of the State government should be one of help to the cities and towns."

PRESIDENT JOHN W. PRENTISS, of the Investment Bankers' Association, told the Rotary Club at City Club luncheon: "The poor man has practically passed out of existence in this country. The United States is fast becoming a nation of capitalists."

EVERETT A. CHURCHILL, dean of Northeastern University Law School, told the freshman class at its annual Spring banquet and dance: "The liberally educated man of the future must be one who has an intimate and scientific knowledge of human relationships and who is able to adopt himself to these relationships."

* * *

HERBERT C. PARSONS, deputy commissioner of probation, declared to the New England Confectioners' Club at Young's Hotel: "Ninety per cent. of those convicted of crime are not essentially criminals. In the State Prison alone 25 per cent. of the prisoners are feeble-minded."

* * *

GOVERNOR COX, in a letter, has this to say of the Citizens' Military Training Camp, which opens next August at Camp Devens: "The training, both physical and mental, which young men have the opportunity of obtaining at these camps, has made a deep impression upon me."

URGES SIGNING OF 'TRIAL SLIP' BY JUDGES

Bar Committee Would Check Abuse by Making Lawyers Give Delay Details

The "trial slip" privilege enjoyed by members of the bar in Boston for years may soon be made more difficult to obtain.

A special committee of the bar investigating reasons for delay in disposition of cases before the Boston Municipal Court, has recommended changes.

Heretofore, an attorney with a case fill out a slip stating that he was tied up in litigation before a higher court and he excused.

The opposing counsel and witnesses would often appear, only to discover the "trial slip" holding up matters.

The committee suggests that a lawyer filing a "trial slip" be forced to state the name of the other case and the court and the possible length of the engagement taking up his time.

It is further suggested that the slips be vised by the court before whom the counsel claims to be engaged.

The investigating committee, comprising Attorneys Wilfred J. Gaffney, Lloyd Makepeace, Charles T. Cottrell, Joseph L. Krafsur and Alonzo E. Yont, reported that no radical changes in court procedure are necessary. They compliments the clerk of the court, William H. Donovan for his efficiency.

WILL QUARANTINE PNEUMONIA CASES

Pittsburgh, March 20.—The city health department today announced drastic measures in an effort to stop the spread of pneumonia, which is classified as one of the most fatal diseases in Pittsburgh. Dr. C. J. Vaux, director of health, said that after April 1 pneumonia cases would be quarantined.

Dr. Vaux declare that a tabulation of deaths in Pittsburgh last year showed that 24 per cent. had died of pneumonia. He added that Pittsburgh, with a death rate of 371 per 100,000 population, had the highest of 72 cities in the United States.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll

has promised to return to America and take his medicine

He gave his promise to Leighton H. Blood of the American Legion, backed by the State Department. The first word that the people and the newspapers of the United States had of this astonishing turn in Bergdoll's lively existence came from a monthly magazine. Read the complete story in Hearst's International for APRIL...out today.

It was this same magazine that gave the first news of the Fall and Denby cases.

....Also the first news about the Veteran Bureau frauds.

....Also the only inside documentary facts about the Ku Klux Klan.

....Also the first inside picture of the Dope Traffic.

....Also the only information on Henry Ford's anti-Jew detective agency.

And now, true to form, Hearst's International gives first word of the dramatic events that led to Bergdoll's promise to return. How Leighton H. Blood, of the staff of Hearst's International, was chosen by the Legion to go over and bring Bergdoll home; how the State Department gave its full accord and protection, the thrilling incidents of Blood's meetings with Bergdoll, and finally the reasoning that Blood used to bring about Bergdoll's promise of voluntary surrender, are told only in Hearst's International for April.

Hearst's International, seeking education in thrilling subjects, has scored another journalistic achievement worthy of the most progressive newspaper.

....Can a Mason join the Ku Klux Klan? Grand Masters have publicly condemned the Klan. Notwithstanding this, some of the most prominent Masons have joined. Many Kleagles, whose duties are to organize Klans, are Masons. Louis R. Glavis, a Mason himself, tells the truth about Masons and the Klan in April Hearst's International.

....Tuberculosis can be cured by the sun. DeKruif tells of miraculous cures of bones and joints and shows a common sense way to prevent all tuberculosis. And Gifford Pinchot, in another stirring article, makes an appeal to Decent Drinkers.

....In fiction there is "The Letter," another bullseye by W. Somerset Maugham, author of "Rain," as remarkable a short story as his "Force of Circumstances" which was published in January. A novel of mystery by A. E. W. Mason. Another Cappy Ricks story by Peter B. Kyne. A tale of the South Seas by Beatrice Grimshaw.

....And more fiction as vivid as life by F. Scott Fitzgerald, Peter Clark Macfarlane, H. G. Wells, Inez Haynes Irwin—and many others. Twenty-five features in all complete the only magazine that gives fiction as stimulating as articles, and articles as interesting as the best fiction of the day.

A motorcycle isn't a closed car

Mr. Votta, Jr., got painful cough— relieved by REM when other medicines failed

The driver of a motorcycle is riding in the teeth of a stiff gale all the time, and in raw, changeable weather he's apt to get a cough.

Mr. Frank L. Votta, Jr., 2025 Wilhelm St., Baltimore, drives a motorcycle in connection with his work, and he got a cough a while ago that hurt him through and through.

Then he saw REM advertised and you can guess what happened.

"I think I caught cold riding my motorcycle last winter and I got a cough from it that lasted several days," said Mr. Votta.

"It made me feel pretty miserable—it hurt right through to my back when I coughed. It was a real dry tight cough and the medicines I was using didn't help any.

"I saw about REM in the papers so I got a bottle at Read's and started taking it. By the next day already my cough was much better. I took two bottles in all, and my cough was gone."

REM'S quick action in so many cases is largely due to a special ingredient (too expensive for old-style slower-acting cough syrups) that makes REM cling to your throat as it is swallowed. And there it quickly begins its work of quieting the cough.

What's more, REM is pleasant to take. Ask your druggist for it and accept no other—you can tell REM by the blue package with the round orange label.

You can have your money back if you want it—but you won't!

BAD WEATHER STILL DELAYS WORLD FLIERS

Threatened Rain Holds Up the Northward Progress of the U. S. Birdmen to Seattle

Portland, Ore., March 20.—Rain, which kept the pilots stationary yesterday, threatened again today to hinder the progress of the around-the-world airmen.

Everything was in readiness, however, for the three great army planes to take off from Vancouver Barracks, Wash., and the fourth from Eugene, Ore., all bound for Seattle.

At the Washington port the four machines are to be equipped with pontoons before the fourth leg of the journey, a stretch over British Columbia and Alaska, is essayed.

Major F. L. Martin, flight commander, will lead the squadron to Seattle, and Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson, after spending the night at Eugene, was prepared to leave on what he hoped would be a non-stop trip to Puget Sound.

The rain, which forced the three leading planes to return to Vancouver Barracks and holding Lieutenant Nelson in the fourth at Eugene, has ceased, but the forecast for today is for more rain.

Major Martin was unable to predict how long the planes would remain at Seattle, but he said departure from there would not be attempted until everything was in the best order for the trying tests ahead.

What Bay Staters Are Saying

ALDEN G. ALLEY, in an address before the Retail Credit Men's Association at Young's Hotel, declared: "The League of Nations is a settler of quarrels. And Now Comes the Time for This Big Spring Event in the Men's Store

The continued growth of this sale—season after season—proves as nothing else could the values we give.

We hold this sale once in the Spring—once in the Fall. Last Spring we had to end the sale before the time scheduled, so unexpectedly large was the demand. Profiting by this experience we made, as we thought, more than ample provision for the Fall sale. Again we had summarily to end the sale—fully a week before we planned. We couldn't go into the market on short notice and get more suits just as good. To get these special values we have to begin six months ahead. When one sale ends—we start working on the next.

For this sale we have provided the largest stock we have ever carried.

The Extra Pair of Trousers practically doubles the life of the suit.

AUTOIST APPEALS JAIL SENTENCE

The fact that the auto license of Patrick J. McGrath of No. 85 Arsenal street, Waltham, was restored to him by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin twenty-eight days after it had been revoked because of liquor charges, was revealed today in the Brighton court, when McGrath appeared charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Last July McGrath was in Waltham court on a similar charge. His case was filed and his license revoked. Today McGrath said Registrar Goodwin had restored the license to him twenty-eight days after revoking it. He was found guilty and sentenced to one month in the House of Correction. He appealed.

BUTLER USES LIGHTS IN BANDIT CRUSADE

Philadelphia, March 20.—Having drafted William Penn's tower on top of the City Hall Director of Public Safety Butler has now decided to press the entire street lighting system of the city into service in his war against bandits. Street light flashes, working simultaneously, will summon every patrolman in the city to his call box as soon as a holdup report has been received.

A light of 4,000,000 candlepower, mounted in the centre of the City Hall courtyard, will throw an amber beam directly upward.

HARRY THAW TO MAKE HOME IN PITTSBURGH

Will Enter Business There; Has No Doubt of Getting His Freedom

Pittsburgh, March 20. (I. N. S.)—Harry K. Thaw expects to return to Pittsburgh next month and establish his permanent home here with his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw. He has plans to enter business life and take part in the financial and civic life of the city.

Thaw, in high spirits, spoke of his new hopes in life as he departed from the East Liberty Station on a Pennsylvania train yesterday afternoon, after having spent a fortnight with his mother at her home in Beechwood Boulevard.

"My trial comes up in the common pleas court of Philadelphia. I have no doubt in the world but that the jury will grant my freedom. This will not be one of those long drawn-out trials, but a speedy verdict in less than a week.

"I will come straight back to Pittsburgh and remain with my mother, whose advanced years are bearing rather heavily upon her. It is my object to repay in a slight way her wonderful devotion to me. I will not be idle. I have many interests to keep me busy. In all these years I have been a close student, and it is every man's duty to be identified with the business and civic life of his community.

"Pittsburgh has grown amazingly and the people here are having difficulty in keeping pace with their city's development. Surely there is a lot for Pittsburgh to do in community betterment, and upon my return I shall find great pleasure in observing the tradition of my family in this respect. I am gratified with the realization of the opportunity to enter this busy sphere of life."

ROXBURY MAN HANGS HIMSELF TO RAFTERS

Sending his little daughter out to play, Stanley Richardson, 28 years old, hanged himself to the rafters of an attic room at his home, No. 32 Alexander street, Roxbury. He was dead when his wife, returning from work, and finding the house locked, summoned male neighbors and forced an entrance.

Richardson, an expert electrician, has been out of work for over four months, and is believed to have become despondent, according to the police. The couple and their five-year-old child Nellie came from Toronto about a year ago. Mrs. Richardson found work and managed to eke out a living for her husband and daughter.

Congratulations to Dr. Cabot, Author and Physician

The Cabot family has for many generations been identified with the professional, industrial and social life of Boston and New England.

Dr Richard C. Cabot

One of the most distinguished members of this family who for more than a score of years has been closely identified with social service work in Boston is Dr. Richard Clarke Cabot, physician and author.

Dr. Cabot was born at Brookline on March 21, 1868, and graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1892.

Tomorrow is his birthday. Send a card or letter of greeting to his home at No. 1 Marlborough street, Back Bay.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN IN MURDER

Pedlar Claims He Saw Her Leave Auto and Enter House Sunday Night

Kansas City, March 20.—A mystery woman was introduced today into the murder of Dr. Zoe Wilkins, marital adventuress and osteopath, while police pursued other avenues of investigation opened by statements by three men held for investigation. The three held are Charles Wilkins, brother, who had often quarreled over her gay life; B. F. Tarpley, who says he was a patient but others say was her friend, and Millard Davis, negro janitor, who is declared attempted once to attack the woman.

Belief that Dr. Wilkins was wealthy faded today, investigation indicating that she had disposed of most of the $200,000 or so that she obtained several years ago by her marriage to a Joplin, Mo., banker.

Jealousy, robbery, a violent quarrel with one of her many admirers, or a dispute over her tangled financial affairs are the motives being developed by the police.

There were unusual happenings at the Wilkins home Sunday night, a tamale pedlar who knew Dr. Wilkins as a customer told the police. It was he who introduced the story of the mystery woman. The pedlar said he saw an automobile stop in front of the house and a woman enter, rejoin a male companion in a few minutes and drive away. Shortly after another man walked from the rear of the Wilkins home, the pedlar told the police.

Dr. Wilkins was beaten and slashed to death between Saturday and Tuesday, when she last was seen and when her murder was discovered.

CROWN PRINCE SALE REALIZES ONLY $500

London, March 20.—Public sale of furniture and other property used by the former German Crown Prince during his exile in Holland, which took place on Wednesday, will put little money in Frederick William's pocket, according to the Daily Mail correspondent at The Hague. The sale was held in the house occupied by the Crown Prince on the Island of Weiringen.

The expected American and English souvenir hunters did not arrive, says the correspondent, and with the exception of the newspapermen and photographers only islanders were present. The goods realized about one hundred pounds.

DR. CALDWELL'S
SYRUP PEPSIN
And so do the children

Some Families Are Never Ill

FORTUNATE are the children whose parents fully realize the seriousness of constipation. Hospital records prove that 75 per cent of all disease originates in bowel obstruction, or constipation. Young children cry because of it; school children are hampered in their studies; grown people are made 25 per cent less efficient; elderly people's blood pressure increases 28 per cent. Realizing this Mrs. Carrie Moss of 1714 Church st., Lynchburg Va., Mr. Louis C. Grahl of 1569 Winton ave., Lakewood, Ohio, and innumerable others, give a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first sign of constipation, and have no sickness among their children.

Largest Selling Laxative

Every up-to-date family medicine chest should contain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and palatable aromatics, a prescription written 30 years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who practiced medicine 47 years. You can buy a bottle in any store where medicines are sold, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. We guarantee that if you will give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a child or for a few nights to an adult it will relieve any case of constipation no matter how chronic, or your money will be refunded.

10 Million Bottles a Year

Use it once and you will never again take coal-tar drugs in candy form, calomel or salts. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable laxative free from opiates and narcotics. It can be safely given to infants, yet it effectively moves the bowels of adults. It acts gently; does not cramp or gripe. Keep it in the house and use it for any indication of bowel obstruction such as constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, dyspepsia, pimples and like skin eruptions. Give it early and it will break up a fever or a cold overnight. A spoonful proves it.

If You Want to Try It Free Before Buying Send for "Syrup Pepsin," 517 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

Don't Pick Blindly

There are hundreds of good used car values on the market. But to be sure that the used car you buy is a good one you must know automobile values—OR, insist on seeing only those used cars which carry the BOSTON AMERICAN "Inspected-Insured" blue certificate on the windshield. This certificate is for your protection. It removes all doubt and speculation as to the car's actual condition and value.

This Service Is FREE To You

The BOSTON AMERICAN employs expert automobile mechanics to examine every car listed in its Used Car columns. These expert mechanics verify the year of make, factory number, the general mechanical condition of the whole car, brakes, body, frame, steering gear, tool equipment and tires. The condition of the car is then reported on the "Inspected-Insured" blue certificate (reproduced to the right) which is pasted on the windshield. This protects you against hidden defects and assures you that the condition of the car is exactly as represented.

NEW FEDERAL FISH LABORATORY STARTED

Woods Hole, March 20—Ground was broken here today for the erection of the new marine biological laboratory of the Federal Bureau of Fisheries. The building, to cost half a million dollars, will be devoted largely to advanced research work. Captain John Vedder, the oldest member of the laboratory staff here, was given the first spade.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard calluses on bottom of feet, without soreness or irritation.

"Gets-It" Makes Corns Vanish

Even Surgeons don't cut their own corns. They use "Gets-It" and it's the safest way. Why should one risk infection or suffer when it is so easy to end corns and calluses quickly, painlessly, permanently? Just three drops of "Gets-It," then the corn loosens so you can lift it right off with never a twinge of pain. Get "Gets-It" at any druggist's. E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. BERKELEY INFIRMARY HIGHLY EFFICIENT

IN CHILDREN'S CLINIC

This is the latest effort of a series of articles which are sent to this newspaper's investigation a medical backing in further fashion.

If you are not acquainted with reliable physicians, we seek to make sure of what many regard as price and fine dealing. The result will show you how to avoid quacks by patronizing Boston's best specialists, the best in the country.

The Berkeley Infirmary at No 44 Dwight street is one of the many examples of service to the community.

It is essentially an out-patient department, where all persons who are unable to pay a small fee, from 5 to 25 cents, may receive treatment. Quacks have no recognition. Only graduate physicians of the highest standing are employed.

The Berkeley Infirmary receives patients personally at any time, but medical and surgical examinations are made only by appointment. Persons who are unable to pay the fee are also treated.

FEES, 50 TO 10 CENTS

The fee you pay them is only 50 cents and this is reduced whenever it is found that it is impossible to pay them.

Many specialists are performing this hospital and when a surgical operation is necessary the patient is directed to the proper physician.

Often, after a night of treatment by the dispensary physician, a patient is referred to a specialist for further treatment, arrangements for treatment being made for 50 cents, post operation visits by the doctor, or other fees provided. These conditions are approved by the Infirmary's agent.

The Infirmary is open to persons of both sexes without regard to race, color or creed.

DOCTORS SERVE FREE

It has departments of minor surgery, obstetrics, women's diseases, orthopedics, skin, genito-urinal, massage, eye, ear, throat and children's clinic.

Patients who seek work are given a general diagnosis. If a part is found to be suffering from ill-nourished disease that are treated at the infirmary. Another continuous exercises are cared for there, however.

A whole floor of this building is devoted exclusively to the nutrition clinics.

The general clinics are:

Medical, Monday, Wednesday and Friday; surgical, Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Eye, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Ear, Nose and Throat, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Eye, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Dental, Tuesday and Saturday.

All clinics are held at the Infirmary, 44 Dwight street, Boston, from 9 A. M. to 12 A. M.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wis.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so ill could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking these, and bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."—Mrs. Ira Gumroy, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after childbirth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after childbirth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and can be taken safely by nursing mothers.

P. O. Men Can't Live Up To U. S. Standards on Pay

Letter carriers must be men of integrity and responsibility. They must live according to the best American standards. They must always present a neat personal appearance on duty. They are expected to do all this on a salary of $1800 a year, or $4.92 a day. It can't be done, and they ask Congress to pass a bill giving them $2400 a year. Here is another reason why this bill should pass:

John F. Wilson

Letter Carrier John F. Wilson is the father of three children, all of school age. He is attached to the Central Post Office. He receives $1800 a year. He pays $40 a month rent and supports his family out of this meagre wage. He has been in the service for seventeen years.

KOTSONAROS MEETS STASIAK IN INTERNATIONAL MAT BOUT

PICK POLE FOR THE WINNER

By RINGSIDE.

George Kotsonaros, Greek heavyweight wrestling champion, and Stanley Stasiak, mighty Polish title holder, will battle in an international mat bout, best two falls out of three, at the Old Howard's show at the Grand Opera House tonight.

Kotsonaros recently conquered Angelo Taramaschi, Italian champion, while Stasiak disposed of Wladek Zbyszko, Polish favorite. As a result there is great interest in the meeting between Stasiak and Kotsonaros tonight.

GREEK CHAMPION THE GAMEST IN THE WORLD

The Greek champion is considered the cleverest wrestler in the world. Even Strangler Lewis, world's champion, is not so skilful as Kotsonaros.

Kotsonaros is fifty pounds heavier than he was last season. As a result, he is able to go in and twist the toughest kind of opposition. His skill is backed by strength and the necessary weight.

Kotsonaros is of the opinion that his superior speed and skill will enable him to dispose of the rugged Stasiak tonight. The Greek champion will use a [illegible] bell and stay the limit. The two falls will be [illegible]

SHEVLIN FIT FOR BOUT WITH GEORGE WARD

By JACK CONWAY

Eddie Shevlin, New England welterweight champion and an outstanding figure in the boxing game for the past decade, will amaze those who see him battle George Ward of Elizabeth, N. J., in their ten-round bout at the Commercial A. C.'s show at Mechanics Building tomorrow night.

Shevlin has not appeared in a Boston ring since last Fall. Since then he has had a long layoff, other than for bouts with the sensational Eddie Burnbrook and Frankie Quill, and as a result has stored up a world of energy.

Eddie Shevlin

Those who have seen Shevlin in his workouts at Kelly & Hayes' gym pick him to win over Ward in their contest tomorrow night.

Shevlin's showing in his workouts is what caused Jimmy Jones, Youngstown, O., welterweight, to withdraw from his contest with the Roxbury man. Jones figured that with Shevlin at his best, the New England champion would win on points, as was the case when these rivals battled in Pittsburgh.

One of the reasons why Jack Dempsey shows so well in all of his starts is because he takes plenty of rest between bouts. Boxers, like everybody else, lose their pep when they work continuously. An occasional layoff tunes them up.

DEFEATED IN BROOKLYN, WHO WANTS A WALKER BOUT.

Since Shevlin last showed in Boston, he defeated Eddie Burnbrook, who is being boosted for a tussle with Mickey Walker. Burnbrook is one of the best welterweights in the world. He's aggressive and a terrific hitter, but wasn't fast enough for Shevlin.

There's always action when Shevlin goes against Ward. When these warriors met for the first time at Revere Shevlin for all the [illegible] won the decision on a [illegible] margin.

SNEAK PUNCH WON FOR WARD IN SECOND BOUT

When Shevlin and Ward clashed for the second time, the [illegible] punch won for Ward. As the [illegible] in the centre of the ring Shevlin extended his right hand. Ward hooked him to the jaw and the New England champion was knocked at most out. It was the fifth round before Eddie's head cleared.

Ward won the decision in the third meeting. The bout was postponed on account of an injury suffered by Shevlin. Before Eddie was right he went on the match and was outpointed after a fast, gruelling contest.

Ward Shevlin bouts have the same thrill that always featured meetings between Jack Britton and Ted (Kid) Lewis. The men are natural rivals and may be expected to set a record clip from gong to bell.

Ward, like Shevlin, has been taking things easy and is now ready to step in under the [illegible] calcium and show at his best.

Sam Golden informs us that Ward has been training for three weeks

TWELVE SCHOOLS IN REGIMENTAL MEET

Twelve schools are entered in the sixteenth annual athletic meet under the auspices of the city of Boston, known as the Regimentals. The meet will begin this afternoon with the [illegible] and [illegible] junior row, closing Saturday with the finals. Trials and finals will be held at the East Armoury.

English High, winner of the City school championship and Hyde Park, winner of the District school championship, are the two foremost schools in the meet. A close fight for honors will take place between these two [illegible]

Hyde Park [illegible] Boston last week in the District school meet, is considered a probable winner. If Hyde Park can collect a few points in the junior and intermediate events, there is an even chance that English will be defeated

QUEBEC SCHOOL TEAM PLAYS NEWTON

Four classes of hockey fans will be represented at the double header at the Arena tomorrow night.

New Boston [illegible] week and Newton Scouts fans will flock to the rink to support the Purple [illegible] New Brunswick [illegible] and Prince Edward Island champions in their game with the Maples.

The Maples will draw their home club following.

Natives of Quebec will be well represented among the Huntingdon Quebec, Academy rooters for the game against Newton. High champions of the Interscholastic League.

Newton will draw well from the school hockey followers in Greater Boston.

BRAVES NOW READY TO TACKLE SPEAKER'S CLEVELAND CLUB

WHITE SOX HANDED A WALLOP

By NICK FLATLEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 20.—Tris Speaker and his Cleveland Indians invaded the village today to take on the Braves, who are quite cocky, now that they have hopped onto the victory trail

Before the White Sox was a great thing for the club, there need something to cheer about

Leifer

The weather has been so gloomy and damp that the natural youthful exuberance of the athletes has been squelched and smothered. Things have changed now though

Speaker's pennant contenders had a very busy afternoon in front of the... Tris isn't backward about claiming that he has a chance in this campaign. Way he talks convinces the audience that he means and believes it. Which is one of the reasons the former Red Sox is a mighty fine manager

But Dave Bancroft has similar notions. He's a quiet and reserved young man, but he really thinks he has a ball club in the making. And his players trail along with the same idea. And that's usually the successful combination for success, as you might say.

The Braves, against the White Sox, unfurled a brand of defensive ball that cut off many runs and hits. The infielders executed three double plays very nifftily, and showed none of the hesitancy and doubt that has been Tribal Infield fault for a long time. They did it, too, with Stuffy McInnis on the bench, and Rookie Leifer parked on first.

Joe Tierney

This player, a converted catcher, isn't a Mercury around the bag, but he keeps his toes attached thereto, and is nifty enough at anaring throws. He also takes a very good swing at the pate. In baseball that means a lot. Leifer will never run Stuffy off the bag, but he's likely to be retained for a while, anyhow, as a southpaw pinch hitter

Our Braves hit the ball hard enuch they didn't click off many base blows, and they served evidence that pitchers are none too keen on their troubles keeping scores down against them

Joe Tierney was the leading swatter, smacking out two torrid doubles, after he

Joe Oeschger and Rube Marquard did the Braves' pitching, and the pair were very good. The youngster was never in trouble at all, to speak of and the veteran only found himself in one real hole, and a double play derricked him out of that.

From now on, Manager Bancroft expects to use two pitchers to a game, figuring undoubtedly that will be his only chance of seeing his staff through a tough exhibition series

McInnis, who was kept on the side lines yesterday because the field was skiddy after morning showers was back on the team today Stuffy would rather hit against the Indians than against any ball club in the world, having, if you remember, been escorted out of the American League by that ball club

Joe. Harris' Shoulder Is in Bad Shape

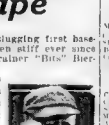
By FRED C. LANE

San Antonio, Tex., March 20—Joe Harris, the slugging first baseman, has had his left shoulder X-rayed. It has been stiff ever since he left Hot Springs and has refused to yield to Trainer "Blitz" Bierhalter's treatment.

Harris contracted a cold while taking the baths at the Arkansas resort It has been giving him trouble since his arrival in San Antonio. Joe has not been able to do himself justice with the bat because of the weak shoulder.

Manager Lee Fohl decided that as the shoulder did not show any signs of healing the safest thing to do was to consult a doctor.

Much of the Red Sox punch this year depends on Harris, the hardest hitting member of the nine



Coach Hubbell

The final cut of the season is looked forward to in the next few days. Only the rookie catchers will be carried along for the stay in San Antonio. The squad at present is pretty near down to normal, so that only a few rookie pitchers must be sent away.

Fohl has decided to send Ray O'Brien and Ray Gaygan, infielders, to Boston to await the arrival of the club. Neither will be carried by the club this season, but have shown enough class to have Fohl look around for a place them in a good minor league for development.

Jigger Donahue

Al Stokes, catcher, injured in practice is about the Hotel with a pair of badly discolored eyes. It was thought at first that his nose was broken but on examination it was found badly bruised.

The heavy rain has made the baseball park a soft stop in Texas soft as to cause the fourth postponements of the exhibition series. The weatherman has been harsh in his treatment toward the Red Sox players for the past two weeks. In that time only one good day has been experienced.

The backward weather has been hard on the pitchers who have been unable to cut loose with their stuff The infield has been very slow because of the rain and dampness of the past week As a result some wierd infield work has been displayed.

Dale Adams

The next game of the exhibition series will be played Saturday. Manager Fohl worked Quinn, Fullerton and Ehmke last week and plans to send Howe, Murray and Ferguson to the rubber when they clash with the Bears.

HARRISON, BOSTON COLLEGE CAPTAIN

"Biddie" Harrison of Brooklyn, N Y., was elected captain of the 1925 Boston College basketball team. "Biddie" starred at guard on the team the past season and his selection was popular. He was also substitute end on the football team last Fall. John Carney of Waltham was elected manager.

Manager Bancroft Out of Game Today

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 20—Manager Dave Bancroft of the Braves will be out of the game against Cleveland this afternoon at Waterfront Park

He contracted a grippe cold in the game against the White Sox, staged on a very damp field, and the doctor's orders are that the manager shall remain in or near his bed at the Edgewater Inn today.

This means that red-headed Ernie Padgett, one of the real sensations of the season here, will be at short for the Tribe Ernie Padgett, one of the real-

The doctor promises, however, that Bancy should be available for the Friday game against the Phils at Leesburg.

SCHOOL FIVES HAVE DRAW

Graduate Manager Clarence P Houston of the Tufts interscholastic basketball tournament announced the drawings for the preliminaries to be held tomorrow morning and afternoon in the Goddard gymnasium, Medford

The contestants in the preliminary rounds will start at 9 o'clock Friday morning and continue until 3 p m The five referees who will officiate are George Hoyt, Martin Sundin, Dan Kelly, Thomas Ferguson and Harold Swaffield

The semi finals will be played on Saturday afternoon while the final contest is scheduled for Saturday evening when the trophy will be presented to the winning schoolboy quintet.

Rogers Hugh of Rhode Island and Fitchburg High are the favorites. These two schools are likely to start a merry battle in the final rounds of the tournament

The drawings are as follows

Gardner vs. Montpelier

Holyoke vs. New Haven Commercial.

Northeast Harbor vs. Pittsfield.

Burlington vs. New Haven High.

Fitchburg vs. Manchester.

Laconia vs. Salem.

Bristol vs. Rogers.

As effective as the [illegible] old mustard plaster, does its work without blister.

Just rub it on with your fingertips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking — Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets a substitute for calomel were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and it sets right. Gentle—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and see if you do not feel fine. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Olive Tablets

When the INDICAN Shows --Beware

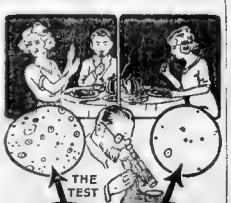
CONSTIPATION means danger. Not because it makes your head ache, but because it makes your breath foul, your taste bad and stomach bilious. And not because it saps your pep.

The danger in constipation is the poisons [illegible]. This poison is very likely a little joint on your body [illegible] ware.

So you have to take a dose to get rid of it. Four times [illegible] to one [illegible] women, and [illegible] the presence of [illegible] Indican. The [illegible] for to find out if your bowels [illegible] poisoned.

Carter's Little Liver Pills, unlike ordinary laxatives, stimulate the stomach and intestines [illegible] drive the INDICAN out.

Make This Test. If analysis [illegible] man, and [illegible] the presence [illegible] you can [illegible] you are [illegible] sallow [illegible] and bad [illegible] start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills.



When you feel out of sorts, no appetite, bad stomach, foul breath—a test usually indicates INDICAN, just as in the picture.

Same person, after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—now the clean, normal specimen—FREE FROM INDICAN.

Next take another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. This shows, proves beyond a doubt why you feel fit as a fiddle, as a kid, in most cases.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills used for 41 years by millions of people all over the world is a purely vegetable preparation, and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts on a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory

GIVE "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Dependable Laxative for Sick Baby or Child—Harmless!

Hurry Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Ask "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.

BOY JOURNEYS ON TRAIN TO TEST RADIO

Gets a Hard Problem in School and Decides on Railroad Trip

Ames, Iowa, March 20 (I. N. S.)—Stanley Wilson, twelve son of M. M. Wilson of this city, struck a puzzler in mathematical problem while in school here a few days ago. The problem was:

"If a small boy is riding away from home at the rate of sixty miles an hour on a railroad train and has a radio receiving set over a radio message traveling at the rate of 186 thousand miles a second, how far will he have traveled before the message reaches him?"

Stanley could not work out this absorbing problem satisfactorily in the schoolroom so he left hurriedly, without notifying his parents, and took passage on a Northwestern train for Chicago to put it to a practical test.

Will, broadcasting station of the Iowa State College, at Ames, assisted the boy in his scientific researches by flashing his description to all points of the compass.

Joseph L. Moss, chief probation officer at Chicago, acted as judge of the test and pronounced in a telegram to Stanley's parents here that the boy was certain he would not have to seek further for the answer to this particular problem.

RADIO CORP. OPENS NEW HUB SERVICE

Greetings from friends in the Methodist Episcopal Church in New England to diplomats of the Russian Orthodox Church in Moscow were embodied in the first radio message sent from Boston under the new service inaugurated by the Radio Corporation of America, which went into effect last month.

Lewis Oliver Hartman, editor of Zions Herald, the New England Methodist publication, who, with Bishop Leete, is now in Paris, visited Moscow last year and established the $50,000 fund, sent the original message which is now advised that the final instalment of the $50,000 fund will be mailed for the Leningrad Theological School, the seed fund to be established.

FIXED CRYSTAL MADE AT HOME

Simple Materials Make Fixed Crystal Detector of High Sensitivity

When it comes to bringing in the local stations nothing is better than the old-time arrangement for faithful reproduction, purity and naturalness of tone.

The crystal has its disadvantages, however, in that it is unstable and hard to adjust.

The spool is first sandpapered [illegible] and trimmed. A strip of sandpaper about [illegible] inches long is then rolled into a narrow tube and pushed back and forth a few times through the hole in the spool [illegible] get out.

The closed stick is now split in half lengthwise and a twelve inch length of No 26 or 28 wire is placed between the two halves so that about three-quarters of an inch of the wire projects from the end of the spool stick, as shown in Fig 2. The stick is then put into the spool hole about one-half of the length of the spool and is then cut off [illegible] with the end of the spool. Care should be taken not to break the wires in cutting off the surplus end of the stick.

The most sensitive pieces are then mounted into a cup, which is [illegible] the [illegible] can [illegible] be [illegible] to touch the crystal at its [illegible] the [illegible] wire. This [illegible] be [illegible] a thin [illegible] of [illegible] over [illegible] and spoil [illegible].

PIONEER FANS HAD TO MAKE OWN PARTS

Modern Fans Can Get All They Need in Any Radio Store

If [illegible] days of radio [illegible] impossible to [illegible] do [illegible] but the best [illegible] out for them. Instead of making [illegible] necessary to make everything at home.

As things are now it is possible to step into a radio store on almost any corner and even between the corners and buy whatever you want from the smallest part to a complete set, put back in the [illegible] were one or a few stores selling [illegible] and even these places did not always have what you wanted or else it was not good enough for the set you desired to build.

The average listener of today, takes pride in "making" his set. Just how much of it does he really make? He can go to a store and get a complete plan of a set with actual full-size panel.

He is able with this to order every part which he will need, and then all he has to do is drill a few holes in a soft panel, mount the apparatus and wire it.

What would happen if this same fan suddenly found himself in such a position that he could not buy a variocoupler, a variometer or the other familiar objects which we see easily in the popular windows of the radio stores? Some up to consider this the next time you decide to assemble a set, and then don't be stingy with those few dollars.

The Listener

Former Lieutenant-Governor Edward P. Barry is an ardent supporter of radio. The governor contends that radio has done more to foster and encourage amateur talent than any other single factor in modern life. "Those who possess the rudiments of their profession, in a promising degree whether singer, speaker or actor, have enjoyed an opportunity of an unlimited audience," he says "while the audience in turn has become acquainted with them."

WTAT is trying to ascertain just what the radio fans want in the way of a program, and invites us all to write in whether we want programs made up all of classical, all of popular selections, or variety. Legitimate answers would be about 100 per cent. in favor of variety, of course. Broadcasting directors exist because they are supposed to give the public something pleasing—they can't expect us all to be broadcasting directors.

During the international test last week by British stations broadcasting a special concert for American listeners I tuned in and heard an unmistakably English accent. I was sure I had at last received the other side, but when the announcement came, I learned it was a Londoner at CFCF, Montreal, explaining details of a plan to raise a fund for veterans.

You can't always tell by a voice on the radio who is performing. I tuned in on WFI, Philadelphia, and thought I heard a contralto singing jazz numbers. When the announcement came, I was surprised to hear it was a twelve-year-old boy soprano.

Out and out advertising has finally appeared via radio. I noticed a sign in several stores of a nation-wide chain bidding its customers listen in on a certain night and hear the company's orchestra and glee club broadcast from WEAF.

Come on, you announcer at WEAO, let's have your announcements a little more distinctly or I'll take a shot at all women announcers. I listened to your station several times before I finally discovered it was the Ohio State University.

GET THE CAPACITY OF CONDENSERS

In buying condensers, do not merely ask for a twenty-three of forty-three plate condenser, as the case may be, but know you require in a .0005 or a .001 condenser. The capacity of a condenser is dependent upon many factors besides the number of plates. For instance, the plates of one condenser may be larger or smaller than those of another, or the plates may vary in thickness, or they may be spaced closely in one condenser and more widely apart in another.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio receiving conditions for tonight should be good from all stations broadcasting throughout the entire United States, according to indications of the barometric charts.

Reception from southern Canada will be poor.

A low barometric pressure prevails throughout the United States, but in southern Canada high pressure prevails.

FILM ACTRESS BELIEVES IN HOME IDEALS

Sweet Faced Mother in "Through the Dark" Proud of Her Birthplace

Margaret Seddon, the fragile sweet-faced mother in the Cosmopolitan productions "Through the Dark," at the Modern and Beacon, is a firm believer in the ideals of the home. Without homes, declares Miss Seddon, people would be like animals wandering hither and thither with no purpose in life.

Miss Seddon is proud of her birthplace—Washington, D. C.—and no matter how beautiful her surroundings, she longs for her home. Her mother, her grandmother, and her great grandmother, were born in that stately old city.

Miss Seddon "mothers" everyone on the set. Her face has the lovely expression of a mother just looking up from her baby's cradle, while her hair, slightly silvered, is piled high upon her head, perhaps to give her height. For she is a little thing, but screen mother, and wears but a two and one half shoe and a five and one-half glove.

Miss Seddon has played in "Sonny," with R. Lloyd Bridgeman; and in "Timothy's Quest," "Wild Men Marry," "The Man Who Played God" and "Blame" Warner Brothers lately her to Los Angeles from New York to play in "The Little Church Around the Corner."

Howard Coonley, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Manager Frank S. Davis of the Maritime Association, and other prominent Bostonians, will entertain Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce representatives when the "around the world" Dollar Line steamship President Harrison reaches Boston March 24. They are guests of the line on the cruise begun three months ago in San Pedro, Cal. When the steamer leaves Boston Mr. and Mrs. Schlee and Miss Lillian Schlee of Linnean street, Cambridge, will sail for their home in Shanghai, China.

JEWS CELEBRATE FEAST OF PURIM

Jews of Greater Boston, like all others elsewhere, today will celebrate the Feast of the Purim, happiest of their calendar, with appropriate services in synagogues and temples, festival communications from the Supreme Grand Lodge of the B'nai B'rith, and the distribution of the people of Israel to the devotion of the charitable organizations, in the Karen Hayes'el, the Rabbinical Hebrew college and many others, will make a country wide appeal for funds during the Festival.

MME. MONTEUX'S MOTHER IS DEAD

Because of the sudden death of her mother, Mme. Pierre Monteux, wife of the conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, has been called to France. Mme. Monteux will sail Saturday. She came from France two weeks ago, intending to be with her husband at the close of the symphony season. M. Monteux is completing his five year term as conductor of the Boston orchestra. In May he will join his family in France.

17,000 TRAMWAYMEN TO STRIKE IN LONDON

London, March 20.—The Transport Workers' Union has called a strike for midnight tomorrow, failing a settlement of demands for increased pay. The move affects 17,000 tramwaymen. Thirty thousand omnibus men have promised their support, while the subway motormen are expected to join. Meanwhile the threatened national lockout in the ship-building industry is regarded as virtually certain to materialize.

ROSE PIRATES RAID NEW YORK FLOWER SHOW

Daring Thieves Make Escape With Hundreds of "Mrs. Coolidge" Blooms

New York, March 20.—Rose pirates, sailing out in the Flower Show got away with an armful of the variety of blooms named in honor of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and very nearly got away with the entire prize list. Two pirates had been brought to the Grand Central Palace.

The victim was F. R. Pierson of Tarrytown, who had brought more than a score hundred roses from his greenhouses to help make the exhibit. But he left them outside.

When Mr. Pierson emerged from a meeting of the society he found the roses and fled out the rose to the motor robe and were in the act of being bought by the expert. The pirates when enquired, drove away with the flowers. A passenger in the robe of Paul Lavoisier and brought it back and got many of roses of thieves. Even such has paper's freshen had pass with the yellow rose a rose rosette by the person Mr. Pierson got a third prize of $200.

New York, March 20—A bobbed haired woman bandit again is at large after the one who for several months was the terror of Brooklyn merchants, made off with $1,000 in cash and jewelry valued at $5,000 in a series of holdups, it was disclosed today.

796 DISCHARGED IN REVENUE SCANDALS

Dropped by Bureau for Dishonesty; Blair Fails to Tell How Much Was Stolen

Washington, March 20 (I.N.S.)—Seven hundred and ninety-six persons have been dismissed by the Internal Revenue Bureau for dishonesty, Commissioner David H. Blair told the special Senate Committee investigating the bureau.

Of these 226 were in the field service and 70 in the Washington offices.

They included revenue agents, inspectors, deputy collectors and cashiers, practically all of those indicted in Washington in the recent cases.

In a number of cases, Blair said, there had been indictments among deputy collectors. He was not prepared to state what losses the government had sustained as a result.

In most cases the government has recovered substantial indemnity from the companies of persons on whose bonds the dismissed officers

LATEST 'SALLY' HAS ROLE IN 'WHITE WAY'

Marilyn Miller's Successor Makes Debut in Musical Comedy Scene

Shirley Vernon who has succeeded Marilyn Miller in the leading feminine part in "Sally," makes her motion picture debut in "The Great White Way," Cosmopolitan Productions' new surprise feature at the Park Theatre.

The cast is headed by Anita Stewart, T. Roy Barnes, Oscar Shaw and Tom Lewis, and includes such well known Broadway figures as Tex Rickard, Arthur Brisbane, Ned Wayburn, Irvin S. Cobb, Earl Sandt, "Bugs" Baer, Nell Brinkley, George McManus, Damon Runyon, Fay King and Harry Hershfield.

Miss Vernon appears in the musical comedy scene of the picture in which the services of the entire "Ziegfeld Follies" chorus are utilized.

This scene was staged especially for the picture in the Frolic Theatre, with Anita Stewart playing the leading role, and Ned Wayburn acting the part of the stage director.

'AMERICA' HERO NEARING GOAL TO STARDOM

Neil Hamilton on Way to Becoming Second Valentino, Says Griffith

Two years ago Neil Hamilton the handsome and brilliant young actor who plays the hero in D. W. Griffith's "America," at the Majestic Theatre, was an extra man working in a New Jersey studio at $5 a day.

Today, according to Griffith, and to the newspaper critics he stands on the threshold of becoming a second Valentino.

"I had some strange experiences," said Hamilton, discussing his meteoric career, "but none which impressed me more than the first day I went out to Fort Lee to look for a job as an extra.

"I went into a little lunch room out there to get a cup of coffee to rouse my drooping spirits. There was a fatherly looking clergyman eating there and I touched my hat and said: 'Good morning, Father.'

"But paying no attention to me the clergyman kept right on eating, while the lunch room attendant gave me the laugh. The 'clergyman' was a movie actor at lunch. Which didn't save me from being laughed at all over the lot.

"You see I had studied theology for four years and so knew a lot more about the respect due the clergy than I did about motion pictures.

"After being an extra for a couple of years and deciding that's all I ever would be, I joined a stock company I was promised $75 a week, but actually got $25. Nevertheless I stuck it out a whole season and gained some mighty valuable experience."

EGYPTIAN SCENES IN INTERNATIONAL REEL

Picturesque in the extreme is the subject appearing in the current issue of International's newsreel now showing at the principal theatres. The picture was made during the tour of Sinai Province by the Egyptian ruler. Native warriors on camel back, desert sheiks and the populace of the desert towns greet him. The eye of the camera has lost nothing of the glamour surrounding the ceremonials of this picturesque people.

This issue also contains interesting views of the thousands who marched in New York city, in honor of Erin's patron saint—St. Patrick.

From Chicago come thrilling views of steel workers flirting with death on the skeleton of a great skyscraper.

This issue of International also includes views from Holland and Japan as well as other points in the United States.

CHICKIE

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

She was shaken, pale with emotion, when she stole quietly away

THE blond youth with the petulant mouth and dark, storming eyes, flushed with pleasure. "Well, I don't know as it's that good, Janina—but fair enough at that."

The lights from the house threw a soft, yellow glow over the terrace and into the dark bowl that was the garden.

In this pale, shimmering reflection couples sauntered—dim, elusive, poetic—and sat among the trees. Other couples gamin and noisy, whisked gaily from the ballroom to the automobiles parked everywhere among the shrubs.

Chaffee Arnold's sedan was hidden among the poppy trees on a sharp twist of an old road. He took a silver flask from a pocket near the driver's seat, passed it around with a practiced ease and look at Janina. "I had a lot of trouble getting this. It's the old man's finest stuff. Is it all right?"

Another Round

Janina laughed. "All right? It is. Not all mine, I trust?"

He took the hint. Enough for a round or two, then.

Janina answered, letting her hand rest on his shoulder. "Chaffee, dear, you're a bright young thief. I have hopes for you!

Make yourselves comfortable, you in the rear. We shan't see you!"

Chickie sat with her hands clasped. When she saw Chaffee's head bend to Janina's face she grew hot with embarrassment. Suddenly the tears rushed to her eyes. When Barry slipped his arm to her shoulder she sat upright, saying with a little start:

"Oh, don't you think we should be going back? They'd think we're frightfully impolite."

From the depths of a delicious lanzour Janina answered, "Who'll think that, Chickie? What'll worry about us?"

"Why, Bess, of course—and every one. I haven't even been introduced to a soul yet."

A quiet laugh: "Listen to the bear! What's your trouble, Chickie? Aren't you and Red satisfied with each other? Too bad! Too late to change now. What do you think ole dear—they're waiting for us to come in and play 'Ring Around Rosie' or musical chairs?"

Barry touched her hands. "Want to go, Chickie?"

She nodded.

He said aloud: "Ah—but that's winsome music, Janina. Come in and I'll dance with you."

"You'll have to promise more than that, Red, my dear. Be on your way if you like. Chaffee and I'll keep the back seat warm for you."

The night touched about them gently—humming. She turned her hand eagerly in his. He said, "Are you cold? Suppose we take a walk?"

Shadows.

She felt herself blending with the shadows; with the strains of distant music floating on the low October breeze. They went slowly down the terrace and on. They passed an arbor twined all about with roses, black in the moonlight. He said, "Chickie, please—don't have to know—tell me. Well, let's sit here a while."

He had just parted the heavy vines; he had almost stumbled against the figures sitting on the bench when a laugh darted at them—high, shrill: "Ha, ha! Too late! Occupied!"

Chickie sprang back, shaking. His arm stiffened against her. He dropped the vines—hot with anger.

After a long silence he said: "Listen, Chickie!"

She waited. He stood beside her and suddenly reached down and took her hand: "Don't be unhappy! Why for? Beauteous nighttimes and me—the stars—look up, please?"

They had wandered to the pool. The darkness closed on them like an immense black tower. They were in its heart listening to its pulse, the high threbbing song of the cricket weaving itself incessantly into silence.

He took her hands, pressing them against him. He reached over and touched her hair. "Chickie—you tell me—please—oh, I have to know. I love you—"

Laughter shivered through her: "Listen. I'm not asking you to marry me, I can't—I can't think of it. But, anyway, just say it: Chickie, you're beautiful. I just want to know—a red head like me? Oh, you don't."

Confession

His fingers caught her shoulders, the full, sweet mouth parted. She felt his eyes mingling with a wild joy in hers. With a little sob her hands flew to his neck, drew his head down. She said hair everything: "Oh—oh!" and closed her eyes, waiting for his lips.

He put her hands against his face, held them there. "Chickie, you mean it. Say it again.

Tears rushed into her eyes. He kissed them. She clung to his hand, she wanted to wind her arms about him—wanted to press his face against her throat. She shut her eyes—shut the world out. She felt her spirit sinking to its knees—dropping its face with a fierce pang of joy in its hands.

She said swiftly: "Yes, I love you. Oh, Barry—yes."

"Then why are you crying? Oh don't do that—"

"No, I'm not—oh—"

She smiled and let her head rest happily against his shoulder. They were still softly, as though a prayer trembled on the still breast of the water.

At the end of the sequestered path he stopped, facing her:

"Chickie—you won't take it back tomorrow? It wasn't just the garden and the music?"

"Oh, no—no—"

"?? You love me?"

There rose within her a terrible exultance. She felt suddenly that she would like to turn and shout: "Oh, you! You!"

She was shaken—pale with emotion when she stole quietly to her room. The stream of light waving under the door stilled her. For a long while she didn't enter.

La Moore her bright hair in two long braids was sitting up in bed—propped with pillows, reading. She closed her book: "Oh, you came in early. I thought I was the only farmer here."

"Why, it's nearly one."

Music Yet.

"But listen!" From the dance hall the music climbed upwards in a lonely, haunting strain. There was no sound of footsteps—except now and then a swift, soft padding across the leaves—the couples coming in dripping from the pool. La Said, stretching her arms: "Did you have a good time? I looked for you and Barry, but you never can find any one here after the first hour."

"Yes—" Chickie stood at the bureau, her head lowered, combing her mouth with halfpins. Her hands trembled and she kept dropping the comb. It seemed to her that her heart was batter her flesh in two. "Yes—but it's independent, though. I never was in such a go-whatever-you-please place before."

"Weren't you? You and Barry have known each other a long time, haven't you?"

Chickie glanced in the mirror, caught a glimpse of the sweet, tranquil face. The lips parted—vivid with eagerness. She answered absently. "Oh—something like that."

He said lightly: "Isn't he good company? I think I'll get up early. If you want to read—don't mind about the light." She stretched herself down, clasping her hands under her head.

SAYS MRS. SOLOMON

By Helen Rowland

MY Daughter in the Garden of Olives says a man seeks the Perfect Flower of Womanhood in a Bachelor Girl, but finds it in the heart of a WIFE. Says the Perfect Flower of Womanhood is a flower that grows in the garden of Home, and that the Bachelor Girl is a Hot-House Plant, which withers in the cold blasts of the World, loses its fragrance in the dust of Publicity, and is trampled underfoot by the Feet of Men.

When I reached the big old fashioned kitchen a surprise awaited me. There stood a Jeanie I never seen before. Clad in a pink and white bungalow apron which ruffled fetchingly about her ankles (instead of her usual gingham somewhere about the middle), instead of her pattie cake person was a slim, graceful figure. Her arms were bare, and her pretty head was without a stitch of cap. She was busily engaged in mixing a delicious compound in a bowl, and her cheeks were flushed with the enthusiasm of her occupation. She looked so much like a picture in a magazine advertisement that I stood watching her for a moment in silence.

"Why, Jeanie Potts!" I exclaimed at last. "Where on earth did you get that apron? And what would be the matter with your old gingham one?"

"Why, Mrs. Solomon," she said, with a pleasant color in her cheeks, "I've had it for ages!" I replied, determined not to be snubbed. "I haven't had it for ages!" I repeated, entering into the spirit of something I couldn't define. "But if it's not brand-new it means—I'll call that a white rose!"

She stopped. Potts laughed. Jeanie. It's going to be an hour before we get to cheese-cake. And I, for one, want cold ham and potato salad and lots of cold water in a glass. The potatoes need to be peeled, and if there aren't any cold blanched nut-meats left, I'll be dogged that an onion sliced in never spoils potato salad."

"It sounds fine!" I agreed, slipping into a ruffly yellow apron that Pat was holding for me. "I'll be delighted to!"

When everything else was prepared, Jeanie popped her pie into the oven and came over and gave me a hand with the peaches.

"Isn't this fun," she said shyly. "I'd love to be poor so I could do this for my man every night."

"IT takes a wonderful man to put up with any of you men folks," I managed with at least a semblance of gayety. "And I'll not forget that in a hurry. Come along, Pat. I'll be a good sport and help with the eats. After all I'm not the one to get up and Jeanie—"

"And we'll stand by," Pat declared earnestly.

Another Round

Janina laughed. "All right? It is. Not all mine, I trust?"

He took the hint. Enough for a round or two, then.

Janina answered, letting her hand rest on his shoulder. "Chaffee, dear, you're a bright young thief. I have hopes for you!

Make yourselves comfortable, you in the rear. We shan't see you!"

Weak, Nervous Men And Women Quickly Gain New Strength

They Renew Vitality and Nerve Force by a Home Treatment of Wincarnis

The nerve power of our systems finds its life in our blood. Create more blood cells make the blood richer and we rekindle the fire of bodily strength, for rich, red blood is the driving force of life.

If we are too easily exhausted, lack confidence and sustaining power, are nervous, irritable, sleep ill-fully and awake unrefreshed; if we are too thin, pale, anaemic looking, we should think first of our blood.

Build more red blood. Gain new strength. Nourish the body tissues. Rejuvenate ourselves. It is red blood that makes our bodies tingle with the pulsing of life.

Men and women who need a blood builder should go at once to their druggists and obtain a generous size bottle of Wincarnis. Here is a home treatment that costs less than ten cents a day. Wincarnis gives your blood the vitalizing elements that it needs. In two weeks see the improvement that Wincarnis brings. You will worry no longer because of failing strength.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With "USE MULSIFIED"

If you want to keep children's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last for months.

FISH PRICES HIGH

THE prices of fish continue to mount higher and higher, as the receipts continue to drop and the demand increases. At the beginning of Lent, when fish was most plentiful, cod, haddock and other common fish sold in the best markets for 10 cents a pound. Last week they rose to 18 cents and today they sell for 20 cents. The above quotations apply to markets that handle only the best fish in the market. They can be shaded by careful shopping on the part of the buyer.

Live lobsters sell for 75 cents a pound and boiled lobsters for 85 cents. An increase of 10 cents over last week.

Continued rough weather on the fishing grounds is responsible for the jump in prices of both fish and lobsters.

Considerable fish is coming to Boston from the Chesapeake bay and other Southern grounds. Jack shad is selling for 45 cents a pound, a drop of five cents from last week, but roe shad has jumped from 70 to 75 cents a pound. Shad roe is selling for $1.75 a pair, against $1.50 last week.

Smelts are a little lower, selling for 30 to 35 cents, against 35 to 45 a week ago. Cape scallops sell for $1.50 per quart, fresh shrimps for 35, spanish mackerel for 40, weepshead for 25, bluefish for 25, butterfish for 25, flounders for 15, halibut for 35, a drop of 15 cents a pound from last week.

BAKED STUFFED COD.

Clean a 4 pound cod, sprinkle with salt inside and out, brush over with lemon juice, stuff and sew. Cut 6 diagonal gashes on each side of back bone and insert narrow strips of salt pork, having gashes on one side come between gashes on the other side. Shape with skewers in form of letter S, and fasten skewers with small twine. Place on greased fish sheet in a shallow pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and baste over with melted butter, sludge with flour, and place around the fish small pieces of fat salt pork. Bake 1 hour in hot oven, basting as soon as fat is tried out and continue basting every 10 minutes. Serve with drawn butter, caper or Hollander sauce. Garnish with lemon and parsley.

SAMOSET SCALLOPS.

1 pint scallops, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, ½ cup thin cream, ½ cup stewed tomatoes, salt, cayenne, few grains of onion juice, 1 egg finely chopped, milk cracker, 1 egg, salt, mustard.

Parboil scallops in their own liquor; drain and cut in quarters. Melt butter, add flour and seasonings, well blended; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, cream; bring to the boiling point, and tomatoes mixed with soda. Again bring to the boiling point, add cheese and, as soon as cheese has melted, egg slightly beaten, scallops and seasoning. Serve on toast.

Pompeii, Our Greatest Museum of Antiquity

HISTORY is said to [illegible] due to Mount Vesuvius that it can [illegible] of the volcano which buried Pompeii has enabled us to [illegible] the life of two thousand years ago. We have been able to [illegible] about any other excavation of the many which preceded ours [illegible] of any epoch before the early days of the Christian era.

Most of the records and [illegible] of the Greeks and Romans were lost during the centuries of barbarism in Europe. What we have left [illegible] of battles and invasions, [illegible] kings and emperors, but [illegible] of the people. [illegible] what their customs were, their personal virtues and vices, we know comparatively little.

Vesuvius stopped the clock at Pompeii. It [illegible] in their homes. It entombed the Roman [illegible] in their baths. Certainly the rooms resembled them. We do not know that they had the [illegible] do, and [illegible] sidewalks for pedestrians. The [illegible] architecture was [illegible] familiar to [illegible] modern architecture is nothing but debased copies of that of the Greeks and Romans and Goths.

But did we realize that by the time Pompeii was destroyed their [illegible] had been invented: [illegible] ointments, razors, tweezers and even [illegible] baths? Did you realize that the Roman store contained [illegible] your own? To walk around the streets of Pompeii, a city perfectly preserved except that the [illegible] have no roofs, and a side wall has fallen here and there, is to marvel how little additional we have learned in two thousand years.

Go to the Roman theatre, and you will see a box office like those of your own theatre. Need I tell an impudent ticket seller dealt out seats in the last row and sold the good ones to speculators. They found in the box office at the big theatre in Pompeii a number of ivory skulls fashioned like human heads. These were offered by dramatic critics and others who got in free. The expression "a pair of skulls" is still used in the theatrical profession to describe complimentary tickets. And behind the scenes on the stage as in the actors' dressing rooms, stood overseers with whips. An actor who didn't get applauses got a beating. Therefore after their performance the actors cringed, spreading their arms wide to plead for applause from the audience. Acrobats do it to this day. The habit of beating bad actors has ceased—to the regret of some of them.

You can read the 5,000 pages of Gibbon's great history without learning as much about the daily life of the Romans as three hours in Pompeii will teach you.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury

ONE of the most necessary things in the average home is a "bouncer." A bouncer is a hired man who throws your lady visitors suitors out of the house at midnight.

AS soon as the clock strikes twelve the bouncer puts his shoes on and starts home for work.

A GIRL used to be able to get rid of her suitors without much trouble, but nowadays you can't even [illegible] them.

ONE guy used to call on a girl and stay so long that he had to wind an eight day clock three times before he left.

SHE couldn't even give him a hint. If she [illegible] him has what he told her he never went in the house.

WHEN she brought him his overcoat he said he wasn't chilly.

SHE finally had to wait for an earthquake before he could get him out of the easy chair.

HER father said if he had stayed another hour he would have called the police and had him arrested for vagrancy.

HE wore a tweed suit which was so rough that it was carrying all the leather off the new seat.

THIS girl never realized what a godsend a bouncer could be until her father hired one.

THE father could have kicked the suitor out himself, but a bouncer has a special pair of shoes for this kind of work.

BESIDES the average man likes to save his feelings for his own personal use. He doesn't like to waste them on some friend of his daughter's.

MOST parlor romances are affairs of these bouncers and always make it a practice to leave three minutes before twelve. Instead of wrist watches they carry alarm clocks.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan

What Lady Derby Did to Prove Herself a Good General.

IN 1644 a great lady lived in her castle in Lancashire. This castle was called Lathom House.

Although it was strongly fortified with its great walls six feet thick, and its nine in passing towers, each of which supported [illegible] and was surrounded by a moat, [illegible] the owner of the castle was in great danger. Its defenders were only [illegible] and poorly armed men and [illegible] opposed to them [illegible] which Cromwell [illegible] Lancashire.

[illegible] Derby was [illegible] and [illegible] was strong and skilful [illegible] to join the king's [illegible] and defend the interest of [illegible]

General Sir Charles Fairfax [illegible] command of the parliamentary forces, before laying siege to the castle, sent to the proud Lady Derby the following message:

"The parliament sends you [illegible] peaceably to give up and [illegible] and [illegible] Lathom House upon honorable [illegible] and they desire that [illegible] shall [illegible] down to your husband if he will submit to their authority."

Lady Derby was [illegible] anger over this command for she felt that her husband's loyalty to the crown justified her remaining unharmed in her home. And for [illegible] reason she asked for a week in which to determine her course.

Then followed another message from General Fairfax in which he [illegible] Lady Derby to come to his headquarters and discuss with him and in a [illegible] the necessity of her abandoning her castle.

Defiantly and with the high spirit which was hers, Lady Derby refused in the following message:

"My birth, my sex and the honor of my lord demand that you should come to me and not I to you."

To General Fairfax this was a challenge, and immediately he led his army against the castle.

From the highest tower, Lady Derby, herself, flung out the Royalist banner, and personally directed the defence of her home.

She was a brave one that one evening while she and her children were seated at the dinner table and a great cannon ball crashed into the room, she calmly arose from the table and ordered a sally on the marauders.

After this incident, General Rigby sent a letter to Lady Derby demanding her surrender. Imperiously she read the message, her face flushed and scornfully she made the following reply:

"Your reward for this work should be that I should hang you at my gate, but you are only the foolish instrument of the traitors' tribe. Tell the insolent rebel Rigby that he shall have neither persons, goods nor house of mine. When we are spent, we shall find a fire more merciful than he is; and then my goods and my house shall burn in his sight and we all will seal our religion and loyalty in the flames together rather than fall into his hands."

Resolutely she kept her word and was valiantly supported by her followers during the hard siege, which lasted two months. Then news was brought that Prince Rupert and his army were marching to save her. Her enemies heard of this and retreated. Lady Derby had held her castle with great bravery and courage, and her name is remembered by her countrymen as that of a true heroine.

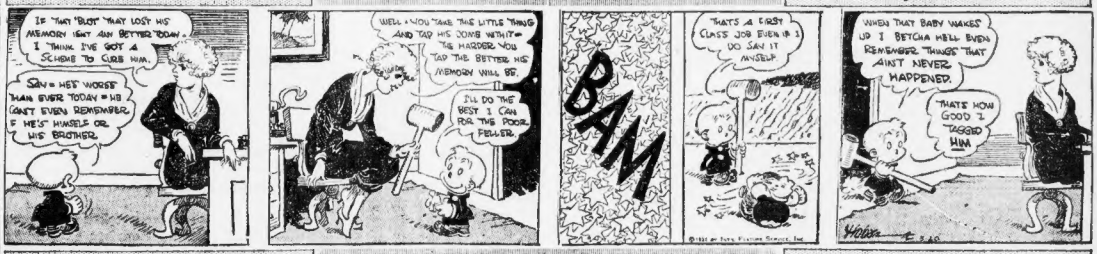
JERRY ON THE JOB
Gave Him an Overdose
By Hoban



IF THAT "BUST" THAT LOST HIS MEMORY HAS ANY BETTER TODAY - I THINK I'VE GOT A SCHEME TO CURE HIM.
SAY - HE'S WORSE THAN EVER TODAY - HE CAN'T EVEN REMEMBER IF HE'S HIMSELF OR HIS BROTHER.
WELL, NOW TAKE THIS LITTLE HAMMER AND TAP HIS JOINS WITH IT - THE HARDER YOU TAP THE BETTER HIS MEMORY WILL BE.
I'LL DO THE BEST I CAN FER THE POOR FELLER.
BAM
THAT'S A FIRST CLASS JOB EVEN IF I DO SAY IT MYSELF.
WHEN THAT BABY WAKES UP I BETCHA HELL EVEN REMEMBER THINGS THAT AIN'T NEVER HAPPENED.
THAT'S HOW GOOD I TAGGED HIM

THE THIMBLE THEATRE
No Laughing Matter
By Segar

COME ON BLIZZARD, LET'S GO PULL THAT NEW TRICK OF OURS ON OLIVE OIL
WOCKLE
WHAT'S THE TRICK?
YOU'LL FIND OUT. SEE-I DROP THIS GRAIN OF CORN HALF WAY BETWEEN YOU AND BLIZZARD
OWICH!!
W-H-A-C-K
YOU THINK YOU'RE FUNNY!
HAW! HAW! HAW!
OH! SEE THE ROACH
OUW!

KRAZY KAT
The Inquisitive Mrs. Quakk Wakk
By Herriman

NOK NOK NOK.
NOK
YOU WERE A LONG TIME OPENING THIS DOOR KRAZY
I NOTICE THE MILK MAN COMES HERE REGULARLY - WHAT DO YOU DO WITH ALL THAT MILK
WELL I COULD MAKE CUSTARD OUT OF IT
AND WHAT WOULD YOU DO WITH ALL THAT CUSTARD?
PUT IT AMONG PIES COULDN'T
HE'S EITHER FIBBING, OR GONE IN THE MOVIES
EMPTIES ON THE BACK PORCH.

M'ADOO'S WIN GIVES JOLT TO UNDERWOOD

Result of Primaries in North Dakota Cause Coolidge Men Uneasiness

Washington, March 20 (I.N.S.)—Politicians of the National Capital who for three months have kept one ear cocked toward the Senatorial school of scandal and the other primed to catch the voice of the people back home, sustained a pair of mild jolts today in the results of the Presidential preference primaries in Georgia and North Dakota.

In Democratic Georgia, William G. McAdoo has won a sweeping victory over Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama.

In Republican Insurgent North Dakota, President Coolidge has emerged with none too impressive a victory over Senator Hiram Johnson and Senator Robert M. La Follette.

La Follette, whose name was not on the ticket, ran neck and neck with Johnson, and their combined strength was in excess of the President's total, making the President a minority preference in his own party. If Johnson could have defeated La Follette's strength he would have defeated the President handily, according to latest figures reaching here.

The uneasiness of the Coolidge managers has been exemplified by the dispatch of the first Cabinet member to the battle front, James J. Davis, to the State to engage in a speaking tour.

The McAdoo victory in Georgia was a distinct jolt to the Underwood managers, who are directing the Alabaman's national campaign from Washington. The vote in Georgia is fairly close fight in Georgia, as McAdoo is a native Georgian, but none of them figured such an overwhelming exhibition of McAdoo's popularity as the results revealed.

For the time being, at least, the Underwood managers have ceased writing epitaphs on the political tomb of McAdoo.

HUSBAND SEEKS WIFE AND MISSING BABIES

Aid of the American was asked today in a search for Mrs. Marie Cresto, thirty-four, who left her home at No. 31 Harlow street, East Boston, three weeks ago, taking her two children with her. At the same time, John Rigiardelli, thirty-seven, a married man with a wife and four children in

Mrs. Marie Cresto

Italy, disappeared from the Cresto home, where he was a lodger.

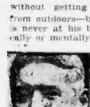
Rigiardelli is the children's father, particularly wants the two children returned to him. The children are a boy, seven years old, and a girl, fifteen months.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY, Boston Health Commissioner.

HUMAN beings do not thrive in an indoor atmosphere.

Every one knows a person may live, perhaps to a ripe old age, without getting much fresh air from outdoors—but such a person is never at his best—either physically or mentally.



Dr. Mahoney

Fresh air is admitted through ventilating systems in amounts theoretically correct for the human system, never have the same beneficial results as the frequent flooding of the indoors with fresh air from the outside.

Experience has taught us that it may be fairly safe to crowd a collection of men for a week or two under housing conditions that cannot be continued indefinitely without disastrous results.

It has also been found practicable to keep men for a portion of each day in bad atmospheric conditions without resulting disaster, provided they spend the rest of their time in the open air—just as they may be permitted to get dirty provided they wash.

The aim for city dwellers should be no longer not only cleanliness but clothing, habitations and everything connected therewith, clean. Under active agencies for the spread of disease, public conveyances, must also receive attention. In so far as cleanliness can be maintained by soap and water, this is to be regarded as the method of choice.

To a great extent, however, we are practically dependent on the cleansing properties of fresh air. If fresh air can be supplemented by Nature's germicide and disinfectant—sunshine, so much the better.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

What could I do to prevent the development of arteriosclerosis? I am nearly sixty. M. A. P.

This is a chronic disease of the arteries in which the vessels tend to become thicker, harder and less elastic than normal as a result of structural changes. The chief things to do is to remove the causes and the best way to do this is within bounds. Regulation of the diet is important. Stimulating foods must be omitted. A diet of vegetables, fruits and cereals to be recommended. Tobacco should be used sparingly, if at all. Physical exercise should be avoided, although systematic exercise in the open air should be encouraged.

I have insomnia. Can you inform me of something which will help me? R. A. L.

Fresh air, rest and regulation of diet are valuable aids in treating insomnia. A glass of hot milk, malted milk or cocoa may be taken before retiring. All cases for worry or uneasiness of mind should be laid aside before going to bed, as this is probably the primary cause of your insomnia.

Is erysipelas contagious? W. A. O.

Erysipelas is a specific inflammation of the skin, most commonly of the face, characterized by sharp redness, and accompanied by more or less fever, chilliness, vomiting or nausea. It is both contagious and infectious, at times to a marked degree, at other times, scarcely at all. It most often a fatal disease and generally runs from one to seven weeks.

Please tell me the symptoms of tuberculosis.

The onset of this disease is gradual. The early symptoms are those of general ill health, with lassitude, indisposition to work, loss of appetite, general ill health, anemia, and disorders of digestion. There is often a slight but persistent rise in evening temperature, not highly significant. In some instances, developing hoarseness is the first symptom noticed. Many times, an attack of pleurisy is the first symptom noticed. When this is established, the symptoms are both local and general.

What can be done to prevent the onset of a common cold and its complications? Mrs. O. A. R.

Despite all the precautions which may be taken, we fall victims to colds from chance susceptibility. When we do, we have to put forth every effort to counteract the conditions which have caused it. It is necessary to bring about an increased flow of blood to the skin as rapidly as possible. The best way to accomplish this is by a hot foot bath, followed by a hot drink, preferably of lemonade or milk and a laxative. It is best to go to bed and call your physician at once if the symptoms persist. It is most important to get the "common cold" under control at once.

How does a too hot room affect a child? Its becomes pale, loses appetite, shows symptoms of indigestion, occasionally vomits, stops gaining in weight, perspires very much, and takes cold easily because of this and also because of the great differences between the indoor and outdoor temperatures. His condition may be such as to lead one to suspect very serious illness.

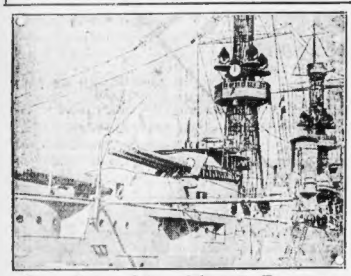
This Too Shall Pass Away

And the United States Should Be READY for the Passing

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.



Terror Today—Joke and Curiosity Tomorrow

You see here only part of the great fighting engine; the top fighting turrets are not seen, nor the great armored body of the boat—only a few of the big guns.

But this is enough to show how vast a machine a modern battleship is; what a marvel of ingenuity to create such a destructive engine of solid steel and still keep it FLOATING on the water, with giant furnaces blazing within it, great electric engines, thousands of men, including its equipment.

It is a mighty engine, but "this, too, shall pass away."

Alexander, in his day, had great battering rams, gigantic catapults throwing heavy stones, towers of wood built to move against walled cities, carrying soldiers to the tops of high walls.

Those things all passed away.

As our great battle fleet entered the harbor of New York it passed the fortifications at the Narrows, intended once to protect the harbor from enemy ships; they passed the grand old fortifications on Governors Island—all obsolete.

A modern battleship standing fifteen miles out at sea would destroy them all in two minutes of gun fire. They are now only keepsakes, souvenirs of the old days.

This great battleship, the Arizona, and all the floating engines of steel will be tomorrow only memories, classified with Alexander's battering rams, or Tutankhamen's fighting chariot, in which he destroyed the Nubians, trained lion running ahead, with spikes on their collars, to add to the savage's terror.

Each contrivance of the brain of man is superceded, driven out by another, born in man's brain.

Those that invented mythology had an excellent idea when they told their believers that Minerva, the eternal virgin, goddess of all arts and knowledge, sprang in full armor from the brain of Jupiter.

From the brain of MAN spring mental children that destroy the intellectual children that have gone before.

Two young men out in Ohio, the Wright brothers, invented the flying machine, and on that day they condemned this battleship and all the other floating engines of steel to the junk pile, to the museum, to the collection of things that were once formidable and now are childish.

This battleship cost about forty millions of dollars. Five thousand dollars invested in a flying machine and one high-powered bomb could send this monster and its entire crew to the bottom of the ocean.

The President, Congress, Naval and Army authorities of the United States should REALIZE that and not merely KNOW it.

Every year this nation, which could well afford it, should spend at least fifty million dollars improving flying machines, building a great fleet of flying machines, training flying men, at high wages.

In that course lies SAFETY for the United States, freedom from any possibility of attack and, what is just as important, speedy and complete development of the flying machine, the engine that is destined to free men from the fundamental slavery which is the POWER of gravitation holding us down to the earth.

Dr. Eliot Is 90 Today

What His Long, Useful Life Teaches Us

Charles W. Eliot, President-Emeritus of Harvard University, is celebrating the ninetieth anniversary of his birth.

In our day we live so fast and so much that it is an achievement to reach ninety with vigor of body, all the faculties functioning, mind unclouded, spirit strong and still growing.

Made president of Harvard at thirty-five, Charles W. Eliot has been the leading influence in American education for more than half a century.

Beyond his commanding position in the spheres of higher learning and of popular education, Dr. Eliot has during all this time also been deeply interested and active in all public causes. He has exemplified, in his own personality, the part that can be played by the scholar and by every large-minded and whole-souled citizen in all the varied concerns of our modern, complex, intertwined civilization.

His life teaches us that it is desirable to attend well to your own affairs, but also to save some of your energy for minding your share of the general business. Also, in our times of harrying hurry, in which cynicism and pessimism have become so fashionable, the Harvard sage tells the secret of his buoyant old age: "A calm temperament, expectant of good."

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE women are looking with interest at the strong ones of our sex who forge ahead. How do they do it? Are they more beautiful, clever, original or daring? We're quite sure they must be more daring. Stern-jowled scrappers, probably, who scare men into giving them what they want. "Well, that lets us out," we say to ourselves. "We never could stand rows."

But are the strongest women scrappers? Consider the case of Margaret Bondfield. Miss Bondfield is the first woman ever appointed to serve as a member of the British governing body. Had it not been for the iron precedent which forbade such an act, she probably would have been given the Ministry of Labor under the new Labor Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald. Mr. Tom Shaw received it instead, and she was named to the Secretaryship of the Ministry.

Far from being a subordinate position, this will give her more active participation in the Ministry than she would have had as its nominal head. Since Shaw's policies are identical with hers, she will have things pretty much her own way. Such power in a woman's hands has no precedent in England. It comes as the crowning victory of years of tremendous struggle for her Socialistic ideals. She is ranked as the "reddest of the reds" among radical agitators. Her fight has been for the woman worker and she has been ruthless in that fight.

Considering a career like that, we wonder what manner of woman she may be. She is one of the gentlest of women. Soft-voiced, mild-eyed, considerate and kind; wherever she goes she is loved, even by those who loathe her socialistic politics. Does this seem strangely inconsistent? But why?

Noise and bluster do not make for power in a woman any more than they do in a man. That's a wholesome fact for American women to chew upon as they face the amazing freedoms and opportunities newly granted them. We're apt to be a bit strident over that liberty. We are so tired of obscurity that we're afraid people will overlook us. We're so bitter from the long injustice that we're always on the defensive.

Ask any man what has been his experience with the woman executive. Nearly always it has been an irritating experience. Discounting for his natural prejudice, it's plain that he has a very real cause for complaint. The woman executive is rarely a good sport. She passes the buck when she has made a mistake. She loses her temper in arguments. She acquires violent likes and dislikes and allows them to interfere with business. She's apt to heckle those beneath her and carry tales to those above. She's intelligent, hard-working, efficient, amazingly gritty and patient at times—yet "you can't bank on her."

That's the man's charge, and it's unfortunately all too true. We hardly know how to handle our strength as yet. We must learn that instead of gathering power we waste it by all this assertiveness and antagonism. It's the cheap engine that makes the racket. The powerful dynamo purrs. THERE IS NO MORE DYNAMIC TECHNIQUE ON EARTH FOR HANDLING HUMAN BEINGS THAN THAT GENTLENESS AND CONSIDERATION WHICH HAS ALWAYS BEEN PART OF WOMAN'S HERITAGE. Let her use that as she goes forth to her new destinies, and the world is hers.

Husband a Cripple

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young mother and have two children and expect a baby in June. I have a little girl of four and a boy of three. My husband is a cripple and is unable to get steady work. I have been doing washing and ironing and sewing, but the doctor says that I should not work any more. I am a small woman and can wear size 18 dresses and shoes size 2½. Anything I could make over I would be glad to get for my little ones. MRS. G. D.

Coat for Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of a girl about fourteen years old who is in need of a Winter coat. Also the address of a woman who wears size 34, as I have a few things I can give her.

MRS. A. D. W.

Thank you. We have sent you the address of Loretta, who with her mother can use the things you offer.

Lonesome Lame Boy

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me some movie actor magazines. I am a little lame boy, and I get pretty lonesome at times. And would like to have some magazines to look at. Thank you. JOE.

A Welcome List

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a list here of clothes which I would gladly give to some poor family. These clothes have been worn, but they are in good condition. Will you please give me the address of the family you think would like to have these, and I would gladly deliver them if their address is not too far from Boston. M. C. C.

Thank you. Your list was too long to publish, but even more welcome for that reason. We have sent you the address of M. H., whose nine brothers and sisters "match" the ages of the clothing you offer.

Offers to Crochet

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there some kind woman who can send me a warm coat? I will crochet lace to pay for it. I have five children, and my husband is dead. I have been sick and unable to work since last September, and now I need warm clothing. Also I would be grateful for anything for a girl six.

MRS. E. L.

For Vet's Daughter

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a nice coat size 38, two Winter hats, pair shoes size 4½; girl's coat and dress size 15. If you will send the address of someone who needs them, I will gladly send them. MRS. E. H.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of H. M., an ex-service man, who has a daughter the age you mention.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THE NATION AND EDUCATION

By DR. FRANK CRANE

FROM the beginning the people of the United States have been intensely interested in education.

The makers of the nation were a hardy race of pioneers and if they had not been possessed of a good deal of hard sense they never would have survived.

And one of the things that common sense sees in a democracy is that, "We must educate, or we must perish by our own prosperity," as one of the early orators expressed it.

Much as the nation has done for education it has not done enough. That is not our fault in particular, but the fault of the whole human race; no nation has ever realized anything like the full purport of education.

Sanderson of Oundle hit the nail on the head when he described the modern civilization as being "a race between education and catastrophe."

The meaning of that is that there is such a rapid increase in invention, and in the knowledge of how to use the great forces of Nature, if we do not make, at the same time, progress in intelligence and discipline our whole edifice of civilization some day may be blown up. It came very near being wrecked in the last war and the opinion is pretty unanimous that the next war will be worse.

Three bills have been reported favorably in the national Legislature. The Smith-Towner Bill in 1918, the Towner-Sterling Bill in 1921 and what is known simply as The Education Bill in 1923. The principles of all these three are the same.

They are: First, to create a Department of Education with a Secretary in the President's Cabinet. Second, to create a National Council of educators and laymen which will meet annually at the call of the secretary. Third, to give Federal aid to the States in educational work. This Federal aid will have five objects:

First: The removal of illiteracy.

President Coolidge, speaking of the need for the Federal government to give its aid freely to the States, said:

"If anyone doubts the need for the concerted action of the States of the nation for this purpose it is only necessary to consider the appalling figures of illiteracy representing a condition which does not vary much in all parts of the union."

This illiteracy represents a mass of ignorance which is really a mass of social, economic and political TNT lying around for some careless hand to touch it off.

The second purpose is the Americanization of the foreign born. If we do not do this we are going to have increasing trouble with national indigestion.

The third object is the promotion of Physical Education. No one can deny that the place to begin training for national defence is in the schoolroom.

The fourth object is the training of teachers.

The fifth and most important is the equalization of educational opportunities, so that the boy from the mountains of Kentucky shall have as good a chance as the boy from the streets of Boston to grow up a valuable citizen.

Every citizen should bring what pressure he can upon Congressmen and Senators to secure the passage of the Education Bill.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON PERPETUAL MOTION

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"I take the liberty of asking you: (1) The meaning of perpetuity; (2) What is motion? (3) Definition of perpetual motion. Is it impossible? Why?

"L. J., DETROIT."

FROM the grouping of your questions I judge that you are, perhaps, tempted to believe in the possibility of making machines which once set going will run on "forever," or until worn out, without any additional supply of mechanical energy.

There are people who passionately believe that. Some persons have pursued their belief to a tragedy of disillusionment and disappointment. Of course, human knowledge is far from perfect, but all the same we are very foolish to run counter to basic principles of our knowledge which so far have never been found to vary.

The man who can make a perpetual motion machine that passes all scientific tests will blow the present science of mechanics, together with its fundamental laws, sky high! But the chances are infinity to one in favor of his blowing himself sky high. In some other world, for all I know, he might do better—but it would be a very different world from this one.

But, maybe, after all, you are not one of those who would try this hopeless venture. Therefore, let us look again at your questions, because direct answers to them may help to clear up the whole matter, and thus induce persons who are thus tempted to think twice before acting.

First, you ask the meaning of "perpetuity." There is nothing obscure about its meaning. It means keeping on without stop, or not ceasing. Yet it does not necessarily mean eternal. A river is not, may dry up, and then its flow ceases. So perpetuity means no cessation during the continuance of the same conditions.

Then, "motion." How difficult it is to describe the meaning of words that rest on common, universal experience is shown by this quotation from the "Standard Dictionary":

"Motion, n. 1. The act or process of moving, or the state of being moved; passage from one point to another; change of position in relation to some assumed point."

This definition might be improved, especially since so much stress has lately been put upon the relativity of all motion; but it represents well enough the idea of motion for our purpose. Let us, then, put the two words "perpetual" and "motion" together, as you do in your third question.

By perpetual motion we evidently mean motion that keeps on without stop, or that does not cease. But we must apply to this definition the same proviso as before, viz.: that although "perpetual" the motion may not be "eternal." If the conditions change, the motion may cease; the moving object may go out of existence. We cannot conceive of motion without matter.

Plainly, then, as far as our definitions go, perpetual motion is possible. But do not—in case you are tempted that way—jump from this to the conclusion that, because perpetual motion is possible, and in fact exists all around us in nature, therefore a perpetual motion machine is equally possible, or possible at all. For it is not.

A water-wheel placed in a river may run until it falls to pieces. It illustrates perpetual motion, but would not be a perpetual motion machine. It is not its wearing out and falling to pieces that prevents it from being accepted as such a machine, but the fact that a natural force continually supplies fresh energy to keep the wheel running.

All so-called perpetual motion machines that have ever been invented violate the fundamental law of mechanics (which nature herself obeys)—that continual work has to be paid for by continual expenditure of energy. And, under the conditions prevailing on our planet, every machine whatever does work, even if it drives nothing else but simply keeps itself moving. Therefore, sooner or later it will stop unless fresh energy is supplied to it.
